Khrushchev Ouster Seen in Offing

"IT WAS A MIRACLE AND GOD'S WILL, I'm sure," said Mrs. Maureen Patterson, Vancouver, wife of Alex Patterson, who was plucked from death Saturday night after being lost six days on Mount Seymour. The 24-year-old brunette is pictured at left, eyes

welled with tears, as she choked out words of gratitude to the mountaineers who rescued her husband. At right, unidentified rescuers are shown comforting the emaciated Patterson after his helicopter trip to Vancouver General Hospital. (Vancouver Sun photos.)

Scout Training
Saved Scot;
Condition Good

VANCOUVER (CP)—The agony of the cold and wet, and the gnawing anxiety of waiting and hoping would have been all over for Alex Patterson Sunday morning. "I figured I could have held out only until Sunday morning—no longer," said the 24-year-old Scottish immigrant when rescued Saturday night by mountaineers from the 4,000-foot Mount Seymour after six days lost in the wilderness. He is now in Vancouver General Hospital suffering from general exposure, and "trench foot"—a result of wet and cold. "His feet are quite sore, but it would appear to me that they will be all right in time," a hospital official said. "His morale is high."

Patterson was virtually given up for dead. He had gone on a stroll the previous Sunday with two other Scots on the mountain, a favorite haunt of weekend motorists, hikers and skiers less than an hour's drive from downtown Vancouver and within sight of the city's lights. The trio became lost.

Polish Uprising Dims Position

WARSAW (AP)—The rise of Polish Communist leaders pledged to independence from Moscow has brought about a movement inside the Kremlin to remove Nikita Khrushchev from his top post in the Soviet party, Polish Communist sources reported today.

With tough, anti-Stalinist Wladyslaw Gomulka taking the reins in Poland, the Soviet party leaders have scented a defeat, and the "three Ms"—Molotov, Malenkov and Mikoyan—have formed an anti-Khrushchev alliance, these informants said.

Some repercussions inside the Kremlin seemed inevitable when the group behind 51-year-old Gomulka seized the reins of the Polish party and swept Stalinists from the policy-making posts. Gomulka, who became a national hero by defying Stalin, emerged on top after a shakeup of the Polish party's ruling politburo Sunday night.

Surrounding Gomulka in the streamlined nine-member ruling group were other men said to favor his demand for disentanglement from Soviet controls. All remained pledged to continued Communist government. Among the Stalinists tossed out of the politburo was Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, the Polish-born Russian Army hero installed by Stalin as head of Poland's military forces in 1949 to hold the country in the Soviet orbit.

Before he officially took power, Gomulka issued a virtual declaration of independence from Moscow. In a fiery speech to the central committee, he denounced what he called misrule of the last 12 years.

Russians Seal Key Rail Post

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union today was reported to have sealed the key railroad junction of Brest-Litovsk from foreigners for a five-day period beginning last Saturday.

Brest-Litovsk is inside Russia and on the main rail route from Moscow to Warsaw. It also is the main control point for road traffic between the Soviet Union and Poland.

Villagers on the Poznan-Warsaw route today reported seeing Soviet military convoys moving in the direction of the Polish capital.

The villagers said that army trucks carrying armed soldiers arrived irregularly in ones and twos at the village halfway between Poznan and Warsaw. The two cities are 190 miles apart.

BERLIN (AP)—Russia has pulled some of her motorized divisions out of Communist East Germany and sent them into restive Poland, a Western source said today. The informant said the Soviet high command began sending the divisions across the East German frontier several days ago, after the crisis in Soviet-Polish relations exploded.

The redeployment could also be a precautionary step to protect Red army supply lines. Russia has about 400,000 troops, including an estimated 22 divisions, stationed in East Germany and their main lines of communication run through Poland. Clashes between Soviet troops and Polish forces reported Saturday night near Stettin may have involved Russians en route to Poland. The Russian troops involved were said to have been units of a regiment that was trying to cross the Oder River from East Germany. Polish frontier guards opened fire when the Russian troops ignored an order to break off their crossing attempt.

U.S. Willing to Aid An Anti-Soviet Poland

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—A reappraisal of United States policy toward Communist Poland is in the making, and the chances appear good that Poland's new independent Red leadership can obtain American economic aid if it wishes—and if it survives. State Secretary Dulles told a television audience Sunday night after conferring with President Eisenhower that anything which weakens the "great structure" of Soviet

Canada-U.S. Fish Talks Under Way

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada and the United States today opened negotiations for an international convention to regulate and control the west coast's $15,000,000-a-year pink salmon fishery.

Fisheries Minister Sinclair and W. C. Herrington of the U.S. state department both said at the opening meeting that in view of past co-operation between their respective countries in fisheries matters the negotiations should be successful.

Mr. Sinclair said in Canada's opinion it is necessary to regulate off-shore fishing on such international fisheries as the pink salmon which use Canadian and U.S. territorial waters in moving through the Strait of Juan de Fuca and up British Columbia's Fraser River to spawn.

If there were no controls, unlimited fishing might wipe out the entire resource. In the past, U.S. fishermen have caught more than 70 per cent of the pink salmon in off-shore fishing, but in recent years Canadians have increased their activity, reducing U.S. catches to less than 60 per cent.

THE HAGEN STORY

Only Practice Makes Perfect

One of the most colorful figures in the world of golf was Walter Hagen. Now, with the aid of Margaret Beaton Heck he has written his amazing life story. Because of world-wide popularity and the fact that he played in the elite, the Times takes pleasure in presenting the Hagen biography.

Chapter Two

Golf champions are made, not born. I would be the first to admit that one must have a flair for the game, but only constant practice and concentration on every type of shot will produce the real champion.

By the time I was 15 I had played more golf and practiced more shots than most young golfers of 21 today. One reason, of course, is that today youngsters must be 14 years old before they can start carrying a bag.

I think I was lucky in being born where and when I was, and in being thrown into contact with golf at the Country Club of Rochester. The members of that club were of wealthy, conservative, socially established old families. Their interest in golf was a sporting one. They used the game entirely for recreation with small bets on the side to up the competition. They were just as interested in tennis, polo, ice skating, hunting and fishing. As a kid I, too, engaged in these sports and got to be pretty sharp in a few. Competition was the factor which drew me. I had a sort of tireless energy, a compulsion to be doing something, to be on the move. Not a

TIMES OPENS 'DEATHLESS DAYS' DRIVE

Motorists! Will You Be Here for Christmas?

Traffic control and enforcement agencies in the Greater Victoria area are shocked by the ever increasing number of automobile accidents, with their toll of dead and maimed.

There have been 15 persons killed in traffic crashes in the south island area since the first of January.

All agencies are impressing on the public the need for safe driving as the bad weather comes along.

Only through individual care by every driver can the toll be halted. Strict observance of traffic laws is a must.

To impress this on its readers The Times will carry on the front page daily the record of accidents in the four greater Victoria municipalities.

And the target will be no more deaths to the end of the year. This is a period of "deathless days." Let's see if we can do it.

At the same time as the "deathless days" campaign, traffic officers of the four Greater Victoria police forces will emphasize the importance of safe driving habits by singling out a courteous driver each week for honors.

From now until March a courteous driver each week will be given two tickets to a Victoria Cougars hockey game and a safe driving certificate signed by a police chief.

Deputy police chief Bert Pearson of Saanich said he hoped the "deathless days" campaign would make the public more conscious of the need for good driving habits so "they'll all be here to enjoy Christmas."

Saanich so far this year has recorded seven traffic fatalities, well ahead of last year.

Oak Bay and Esquimalt municipalities will both be striving to maintain their good records. Esquimalt Chief Gilbert Stancombe said the last traffic fatality in the municipality occurred in 1952.

Oak Bay has a clean slate this year and Chief Robert M. Smith said today he hoped motorists will keep that record during the next 72 days.

CHURCHILL O.K.—JUST A COLD

At present, fine for over-parking at a meter is $1 and for over-parking at an unmetered restricted space, $2.50.

Traffic Crashes Claim 7 Victims

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Seven persons died in traffic accidents in B.C. during the weekend as the province, in the midst of an intensive safety campaign, set a grim new all-time record for violent death on the road.

Six youths and one elderly man were among the victims. An eighth man was drowned early Saturday when he fell from the coastal steamer Princess Joan between Vancouver and Victoria. A ninth man died at Prince Rupert Saturday of injuries received in an accident at the Imperial Oil plant.

Killed in traffic were: M. J. Broughton, 86, of Vancouver; LAC Murray Allen Toole, 19, of Kingston, N.S. (see page 7); Bruce McNeil, 16, Port Moody; Bruce Taylor, 20, Port Moody; Robert Klissack, 19, Ashcroft; George Jmiff, 14, of Castlegar; and a four-year-old Richmond boy whose name is being withheld pending notification of next-of-kin.

The victim who fell from the Princess Joan and drowned in the icy strait waters has not yet been identified. But the seven who died on streets and highways boosted B.C.'s traffic toll for the year so far to 228.

The figure exceeds by three the toll for last year, when a record was set with 225 traffic fatalities for the full 12 months. The grim new mark was topped up as police and safety officials throughout the province were intensifying a drive to head off and keep death from the roads of B.C. for the remainder of the year.

DIED INSTANTLY

McNeil and Taylor were killed instantly Saturday night when their car was in collision with another automobile in Port Moody.

The Jmiff youth died after being hit by a car while walking home from a wedding in Castlegar. Klissack was fatally injured at Ashcroft when his truck rolled over a 40-foot embankment.

Broughton, Vancouver's 32nd traffic victim of the year, was fatally injured Saturday afternoon when he was struck by a car as he stepped from a curb. Police said the aged and sightless man died in Vancouver General Hospital six hours after the accident without regaining consciousness.

The unidentified four-year-old from Richmond died in hospital Saturday night after being hit by a car while walking on Mitchell Island.

At Prince Rupert Robert J. Bone, 39, driver of a front-end loading machine, was killed when the vehicle flipped over on top of him. He is survived by his wife and two foster children.

to socialism," Gomulka declared. "There is the Soviet way. There is the Yugoslav way. And there are other ways."

Gomulka was the Polish Communist party chief once before, in the original Communist government after the war. Then he was known as a friend of the Soviet Union. A member of the workers' movement since the age of 22, he had been in and out of jail for subversive activity in pre-war Poland, and twice had sought refuge in Russia.

But Gomulka refused to go as far as others in turning his native land into a Soviet colony. On Stalin's orders, he was jailed in 1951 on a charge of Titoism. After his release from prison in 1954 he became a symbol of so-called national Communism. The Polish Communists "rehabilitated" him earlier this year.

Gomulka's sweeping victory may herald fateful changes in other parts of the east European Soviet satellite bloc.

Some Polish Communists say they expect Hungary to take a similar course by returning to power former premier Imre Nagy, who was deposed in 1955 as a rightist. Only Sunday, thousands of Hungarian students issued threats to the authorities of street demonstrations unless their demands for more freedom and better living conditions are met within two weeks.

Youth Dies, Three Suffocate In Crowded Motel

CALGARY (CP)—One Calgary youth was found dead, believed a victim of asphyxiation, and three others seriously ill early Sunday in an overcrowded motel cabin.

The three were saved from almost certain death because the motel manager checked the cabin early to see if they had broken anything.

Dead is Elmer Hein, 22. In hospital are Henry Guenther, 19, Peter Wall, 22, and Isaac Guenther.

First Rocket Launching Successful

FORT CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—In a thunderous swoosh, like three or four jet planes flying at once, and two explosive bursts of flame, the first scientific rocket launched in Canada lifted itself more than 70 miles into the sub-Arctic sky Saturday.

The American-built 14-foot Cajun, first of eight rockets to be fired from a site 12 miles east of here, roared from an almost-vertical launching rail into the upper atmosphere and pressure. United States scientists working here said the firing was a success.

Two City Surgeons Earn Fellowships

Two medical specialists here will be presented as newly-admitted Fellows of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada in Toronto next Saturday.

The two local medical men, Drs. J. H. Dickinson and J. A. Hopkins, are Fellows in the college's division of surgery. Fellowship in the college is the highest mark of competency in a special branch of medicine or surgery. It is awarded only after a searching series of examinations following at least five years of post-graduate training.

Saanich Girls To Be Charged As Incurables

Two young girls, apprehended in California while travelling in a stolen car with three older youths, will appear in Saanich juvenile court Wednesday charged with being incurables.

They were flown back here from Bishop, Calif., over the weekend. One is 16, the other 17.

The three youths picked up with them, including a 19-year-old Victorian wanted by both Saanich and city police and a Gordon Head army deserter, were all sentenced last week in Eil, Nev., to a prison term of from one to 15 years for burglary.

Male Tutor For Prince

LONDON (AP)—Miss Helen Lightbody has resigned her job as nurse to the two children of Queen Elizabeth, friends said Sunday night. After eight years of service, she will leave Buckingham Palace at the end of the month. The Duke of Edinburgh is said to believe that his son, Prince Charles, is old enough now to have a male tutor.

came from Glasgow in 1954, was found dead.

Patterson, an accountant with the Vancouver School Board, who came to B.C. three years ago from Hawick, Scotland, revealed details of his ordeal here over the weekend after being brought from the mountain to Vancouver General Hospital by a helicopter.

"I drank water and walked around, drank water and walked around," he said.

"I took my shoes and socks off and tried to keep my feet warm with my body," he said. However, whenever he went for a drink of water, which he did to ease hunger pangs, he got his feet wet again.

TIME WENT QUICKLY

He had no matches with which to light a fire. Except for his feet, however, he was able to keep dry.

"Amazingly the time went quickly," he recalled. "I'd sleep a few hours then get up and walk to keep warm."

He said he occasionally saw automobiles on the mountain road far below. Then he yelled for help every five minutes during his waking hours.

The six-foot Scotsman, who weighs only 120 pounds, said he felt his strength was waning Saturday and Sunday would be the end.

And then he saw the searchers, men from Vancouver alpine and mountain-climbing clubs. They fed him chocolates, light soup and sweet tea and coffee and wrapped him in warm blankets. A helicopter dropped a stretcher and the alpine party cut a path to a ledge from which the helicopter lifted him at nightfall Saturday.

During his vigil Patterson said he had dreamed of glasses of milk and when he was brought to hospital, his first request was for a glass of milk.

SCOUT TRAINING

He said his decision to stay up the mountain until rescued, the result of Boy Scout training in Scotland, saved his life.

During his long vigil he had also "prayed a little."

Maureen, his 24-year-old brunette wife, described the week as "the longest of my life."

"I had just about given up hope," she said. "I really didn't think they would find him alive. It was a miracle and God's will I'm sure."

Mrs. Patterson, after visiting her gaunt and pale husband, said:

"All I can say is thank you to the mountaineers."

"I heard of my husband's rescue from my minister—Rev. D. Davidson—about noon."

The six-day search cost an estimated $13,000.

Searchmaster Bill Angus said today the estimate does not include volunteer labor and is "conservative."

"The cost in hard cash I have estimated at $6,800," said Mr. Angus.

CONCERT REPEATED TONIGHT AT ROYAL

Nelsova's Technical Virtuosity Breath-Taking, Her Tone Vibrant

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON Times Music Critic

Two events of major importance mark this season's second pair of concerts by the Victoria Symphony Orchestra; a first performance of a composition by a leading Canadian composer, the composer himself being present, and the appearance, as guest artist, of one of the world's most truly distinguished musicians, cellist Zara Nelsova.

The performance Sunday afternoon of Vancouver composer Robert Turner's Canzona for orchestra, created an arresting and vital opening to the concert. The work represents a union of an ancient, 16th century, form with the harmonic idiom of today.

VIGOROUS

There is a pleasing arrangement of orchestral voices in the quiet opening passages, and a vigorous and colorful development in the central sections. Thematic material is interesting and plentiful and the contrapuntal treatment scholarly.

Hans Gruber handled the score imaginatively and with a bold incisiveness and if his musicians were not consistently successful, in general they dealt justly with this premiere performance.

However, if for one reason alone, this concert is not to be missed by any genuine music lover. And that reason is Nelsova.

It is not too much to say that no musical experience is complete without having heard this supreme cellist whose name, along with Casals and Piatigorsky, has already become a musical tradition.

SHEER ECSTASY

Her performance in the infinitely lovely and stirring Dvorak B Minor Concerto is one of those high moments of sheer ecstasy in listening which may occur once or twice—or not at all—in a season's concert going.

The quality of her tone is uniformly vibrant and rich, her technical virtuosity, breath-taking. In absolute mastery of her instrument she has been declared the equal of any of her male counterparts.

But one must also add that Nelsova combines two kinds of artistry in a rarely perfect blend. She is the intellectual mistress of her music, entering into it with her mind, so that there is a pure inescapable logic about all she does.

And this is balanced by a kind of intuitive poetry that allows certain lovely phrases to sing themselves simply without undue manipulation, while skillfully evoking from others some unsuspected delight.

As an encore she played, unaccompanied, Prokofiev's quaint "March for Children."

Haydn's 93rd Symphony in D major was the orchestra's principal offering. Gruber's impeccable taste in the interpretation of such music was happily demonstrated in this crisp performance in which the orchestra was so thoroughly at home.

The concert will be repeated tonight at the Royal Theatre at 8.30.

Anti-Britons Win Jordan Election

AMMAN, Jordan (Reuters)—Candidates opposed to Jordan's traditional alliance with Britain today gained a majority in the new 40-seat parliament.

With 35 of the 40 seats counted from elections Sunday, the grouping demanding a closer Arab alliance and severance of the 1948 Anglo-Jordan treaty had won 21 seats.

The sweeping gains of the anti-British candidates left only some of the 12 independents and two members of the constitutional party elected in favor of a more moderate policy in the new parliament.

Three pro-Communists who campaigned under the banner of the National Bloc party—one of them Dr. Yacoub Zayadine, who topped the poll in Jerusalem—gained seats. Two Communists were elected as independents.

COMING BACK TUESDAY

V.I. Scenery Delights Russian Timbermen

Russian Forest Minister G. M. Orlov, already impressed by various aspects of British Columbia's logging and lumbering industry, has shown himself to be equally taken by West Coast scenery.

"Beautiful, beautiful," he kept repeating during a drive over the Malahat Saturday.

Mr. Orlov and his seven companions left Vancouver Island Saturday night after a two-day visit, but have altered their itinerary to include a second visit to the Island.

Tuesday they will inspect woods operations of Comox Logging and Railway Co. Ltd. at Ladysmith, and of MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. at Northwest Bay, near Parksville.

On Saturday the visitors, accompanied by members of Canadian forest industries' associations, went through the Harmac pulp mill of MacMillan and Bloedel, where the minister took notes incessantly for the whole 90 minutes of his tour.

ARM AROUND HOST
The Russian delegation was taken through the mill by G. W. E. Locke, general manager; J. Shumka, technical supervisor; E. Wallace, general superintendent; John Rogers, plant engineer; and Don Gray, personnel supervisor.

When the minister was not taking notes, he had his arm around Mr. Locke and was firing questions at him.

University Dividends

CANADIANS HAVE SOUND reasons to be proud of this country's action in helping veterans of the Second World War to and through university.

The young men and young women who were assisted were those who stood ready to defend Canada, in most cases gave years of their youth to that purpose, and were entitled to the compensation they received from a grateful nation.

No further justification is needed for the veterans' university aid plan.

But greater benefits to the country than had been anticipated are coming to light. These young men and women who improved themselves by higher education obviously are able to make a greater contribution to the nation's economy because of that education. And, in the opinion of the Department of Veterans Affairs, they are actually repaying the government for their education via higher taxes paid on earnings which have been increased because of their college training.

This is a general statement. A survey now under way by the department is expected to verify it in detail.

The success of the veterans' university plan suggests certain advantages in state subsidies for higher education which might well be studied at this time.

Canada, certain spokesmen tell us, is not producing enough university graduates to meet the needs of science, industry and the professions. It is not supplying a sufficient quantity because too small a proportion of those young Canadians who could benefit from university study are getting it. And a number of those who are not advancing beyond high school graduation are ending their formal studies because they cannot finance a year at college. This is particularly the case for girls.

A girl high school graduate of ability cannot make, from late June to early September—the length of the first vacation period between high school and college—enough to carry her through the next academic year. In many cases a boy finds himself in the same position.

Ordinarily the high school graduate is 17 years, sometimes a year or two older. In three months it is difficult for youth in that age grouping to make the $1,000 conventionally considered the cost of on-campus life, including board, lodgings, fees, books and supplies.

Between first and second year the university or college vacation extends over five months. Students emerging from freshman classes are a year older, more mature and better equipped to make more money. But even with this improvement, it is difficult, college authorities say, for a girl to make enough to support herself through the following seven-months university school year.

There are, of course, a number of loan schemes which help the ambitious student. Loans, it has been found, have relatively small appeal for the student entering college and required to finance himself for the next four or five years. The mortgage on his future looks too big.

Under the circumstances—and in the light of experience with the veterans scheme—it seems logical that the state might study means of affording greater help to deserving students at high school graduation. The investment seems profitable in dollars and cents alone if the veterans' plan provides a yardstick. Beyond that a means of helping young people to equip themselves better for important work should promise other substantial, if not material, returns to the country.

The case for greater assistance to university students by scholarships and bursaries deserves more serious consideration.

Rebuke to Police

MR. JUSTICE J. O. WILSON HAS administered an obvious rebuke to two Victoria detectives.

Because of the manner in which they extracted a statement from an accused person he ruled it inadmissible. When the Crown's case collapsed without that document, he instructed an Assize Court jury to find the man not guilty. At the same time he warned police officials in effect not to "go too far" in the questioning of suspects. It was the duty of the court, he said, "to prevent any third-degree methods" of unfairly questioning citizens.

Here, certainly, is an instance which demands investigation by the police commission. No police force can enjoy the respect of the community if it is suspected of using improper methods to obtain information from people under duress. That is a technique of the police state.

Confident Look Ahead

IN ANOTHER COLUMN ON THIS page Dr. W. H. Hickman, principal of Victoria College, has related the pressing challenges of modern education to the local scene.

He has discussed the urgent need for more buildings to house a student body of 1,000 within approximately three years. That is an obvious physical necessity. It is one to which this community should address itself at once, even though the actual financing of construction will be a provincial rather than municipal responsibility.

This alteration in financial obligations arises from the transfer of Victoria College to new jurisdiction. It has officially severed the direct, formal connections with the school board, under which it has grown to importance and stature.

But that severance does not end the intangible ties which will hold the College close to the administrative board which has shown it such consideration and co-operation over the last half century.

Malthus Again

HISTORIAN ARNOLD TOYNBEE has again drawn attention to the modern significance of the old Malthusian theory.

Humanity, he suggests, may be evolving to the point where it can eliminate war and pestilence. If it does, then mankind may starve to death unless the birth rate is limited.

Growing populations all over the world are threatening to outpace the food supply. More of those who would not have survived under a harsher condition are being kept alive—youth and old.

In certain lands, notably Japan, efforts have been made to impose restrictions on the birth rate. So far they have failed in their purpose. The population keeps climbing and productivity of food is not keeping pace.

There are two melancholy escapes from the dilemma of the human family faced, ultimately, with starvation. While it may be possible to eliminate war—the hope of all who subscribe to the principles of the United Nations—that is still a possibility only, not a guarantee.

And, under the more traditional survival processes, when the food supply diminishes to a point where there is only enough for a percentage of the population, the less fit will perish because the instinct of self-preservation will still operate for the strong.

The happier and humanitarian approach to a solution is the one Prof. Toynbee suggests—restriction of the birth rate. It could overcome the inevitable difficulty of too many people for too little sustenance by balancing population against food.

If the human family ignores that course, then nature will impose an alternative with all its harshness.

Trouble in the Little Red School House

HE STANDS TALL

By B. A. TOBIN

The Courage to Win

IT WAS a grey, winter day—January 13, 1941, to be exact—and a chilly breeze tumbled across the aerodrome "somewhere in southern England" as I stood on the wing of a Hurricane fighter plane and peered into its cramped cockpit. The RAF pilot standing beside me explained some of the instruments and controls and what a job it was to squeeze into the confined space. I made some remark that it was no place for anyone with claustrophobia and he agreed. He told me of a hair-raising experience he had had. He had been flying home after an engagement with the Luftwaffe, satisfied with his day's work, when suddenly, with scalp-prickling horror, he smelled smoke!

He told me how sheer terror had raced through him like an electric spark, as the significance of the smell registered. Almost automatically, he said, he had struggled to rise from his seat.

He had grabbed frenziedly at the plastic canopy overhead, trying to slide it back so he could get out. It stuck! The sweat broke out on him, his nails dug into the canopy handle. He was trapped in a burning plane!

The whole sequence of alarm and panic had taken only a second. It was an instinctive reaction to the latent fear of every airman.

Under Control

Just as quickly reason re-asserted itself. The pilot realized the smoke he had smelled did not indicate fire. He immediately relaxed, he told me, and flew home without incident.

I recalled this event very vividly the other evening as I watched a scene from the Douglas Bader picture, "Reach for the Sky." The famous airman's fighter had been hit in action, and he was struggling desperately to jump out while his artificial leg, caught in the fuselage, held him prisoner. It was a situation to rouse panic in anyone—the panic that calls forth an extreme of physical effort, nature's last resort in preserving life.

It brought back that moment on the aerodrome as clearly as though it were only yesterday, for the man who stood by his Hurricane and told me the story was Douglas Bader himself.

One of the bravest, where all were brave, he could tell in a matter-of-fact voice how fear had hit him. His courage lay not in never feeling fear, but in his ability to overcome it and carry on.

I was one of half a dozen newsmen who visited Bader's 242 Squadron that day. The "official" end of the Battle of Britain had come in October. Now the squadron was still operating as a defensive force, but was going to vary the routine with daylight raids on the German-held French coast.

The day before our appearance it had made its first foray of the new program, and Bader was looking for still more outlets for his restless energy.

The "legless pilot" was well known by then, of course. He had led his RAF squadron, composed almost entirely of Canadians at first, to brilliant success in the Battle of Britain.

Air Chief Marshal Sir Hugh C. T. Dowding, head of the vast Fighter Command organization, had already praised No. 242 as "one of the foremost fighting squadrons in the Command."

The men who lived and flew daily with Douglas Bader must surely by then have grown accustomed to him. But on that January day they still had a note of awe in their voices as, one after another, they emphasized: "He's never used a cane. He refused to use a cane."

Price of Victory

That was accomplishment enough. One would think. The movie gives an insight into what it must have cost the man in mental and physical torment. Yet when we had the privilege of meeting him his affliction was hardly noticeable.

He was a little darker and "chunkier" than the actor who ably plays his part in the film. Yet, as I remember him, he navigated even more nimbly on his artificial legs than the movie portrayal indicates.

He drove us across the airfield in a car, walked casually into the mess, sank into an easy chair and threw his legs across the chair arm as nonchalantly as any person.

His face gave a hint of the character that had won this equality after so heavy a blow. His mouth and chin were determined; his eyes had a cool, level look.

He smiled readily, and treated this invasion by the press as any good host would, but you knew that this man was the undisputed boss of his command. He was in full charge of himself, and he would be in full charge of those under him.

For the Future

The official records are full of Bader's exploits—his fighting record, his escapes as a prisoner of war, his promotions and decorations. But he has achieved an equally durable immortality in another way—he has become a legend.

That happens to few men during their lifetime. But wherever the Battle of Britain is mentioned, and the mettle of those who fought it, the name of Douglas Bader will crop up.

He helped to win a crucial battle for the life of his nation, as he had already won a crucial battle for his own life. From that earlier victory must have come some of the strength that placed him among the few to whom so many owe so much.

FROM WASHINGTON By WALTER LIPPMANN

Communism or Russianism?

AID to Yugoslavia has been United States policy for about eight years, since 1948 when the great break occurred between Stalin and Tito. The aid has been given in order to help Tito maintain his independence, and there is every reason to think, as the President declared on Monday, that the policy has been successful. To be sure, we are not well informed about what has been going on recently during Khrushchev's visit to Belgrade and Tito's return visit to Yalta. But there is much objective evidence which goes to show that the essential principle of Titoism, which is national independence from the dictation of Moscow, is not only strong in Yugoslavia but is spreading in the satellite orbit, especially in Poland and in Hungary.

Lippmann

What we are seeing is a growing separation between Communism—as an ideology, a secular religion, and a social movement—and the Soviet Union as a great power and an imperial state. In the reign of Stalin the spread of Communism and the increase of the power of the Soviet state were meshed one with the other.

Thus the line of the Iron Curtain, which has brought Russian power into the centre of Europe, was an old Russian objective at least as long ago as the middle of the 19th century.

Primary Object

When at the end of the war Stalin's army reached that line, he installed Communist governments on his side of the line. But there is every reason to suppose that his primary object was to found a Soviet empire, using the Communist ideology as one of the ways of binding the empire together.

In Stalin's time, moreover, the Communist parties in the outer world, in Italy and in France notoriously, were used not so much to advance Communism in their own countries as to serve the interests of the Soviet Union.

The historic importance of Titoism is that it has been a rebellion against Moscow's use of Communism as an instrument of Russian imperialism.

From the end of the Second World War until Tito's quarrel with Stalin, the Soviet Union treated Yugoslavia as, in the old days, the empires used to treat their colonies: as countries which were not to be developed for their own advantage but were to be exploited for the advantage of the imperial power.

This anti-colonialist rebellion has spread beyond Yugoslavia. It is very active in Poland and in Hungary, and it is working, so it would appear, inside the powerful Italian Communist Party.

In principle, the men who have followed Stalin in Russia have accepted Titoism. There are, they have stated publicly in the Soviet-Yugoslav communique after Tito's visit to Moscow last June, different roads to socialism.

About the application of this principle, there is, it would seem, still much argument. For there must be very considerable anxiety in Moscow, not only among the Communist Old Guard but perhaps also in the army, at the rapidity with which in Poland the ardent vigorous nationalism of the Poles is breaking out all over the place.

We may regard Titoism as the counterpart within the Communist world—the world between the Elbe and the Pacific—of the national uprisings which in the non-Communist world extend from Morocco to Indonesia.

Titoism is the anti-colonialism, the anti-imperialism, of the Communists. Moscow may be able to restrain it, here and there to set it back. But there is every reason to suppose that in Titoism, with its national autonomy, rather than in Stalinism, which is a form of Russian imperialism, lies the future of the world-wide Communist movements.

Needs Review

This will pose, indeed it is already posing, problems which require a re-examination and a reappraisal of many of the concepts which have served us during the Stalinist period of the cold war.

On the one hand, as Moscow ceases to be the governing centre of all Communist movements, we shall see the Soviet government acting more and more like a conventional great power, like a conventional imperial power, less and less as a militant crusading power. There is already much evidence of this change.

This does not mean that there is going to be agreement, much less that the Soviet government will give up its Russian objectives—to exclude us from the Far East, to establish herself in the Middle East, to push back or to liquidate the Atlantic alliance.

What it means is that the Soviet government will be playing the game of power politics in the conventional way, being able to count less than it did under Stalin on the local Communist parties. This does not promise international harmony. But it will be better than what we faced when Communism and Russian power were one and the same thing.

Greater Appeal

On the other hand, in the underdeveloped countries we must expect the Titoist Communist parties to have a much greater popular appeal than the Stalinist parties. Communism as a means of social revolution and reconstruction will less and less be handicapped by the spectre of Russian imperialism.

We cannot afford to doubt that Titoist Communism will be a most formidable challenger. For Stalinist Communism, inasmuch as it threatened subversion to another empire on the make, and, to speak frankly, a white man's empire at that, carries within itself to some considerable degree its own antidote.

A Promise of the Best

Excerpt From the Remarks of Dr. W. H. Hickman, Principal of Victoria College, at the Annual Assembly, Friday Night

TOTAL enrolment this year at Victoria College is 573 students. Perhaps because of a very considerable increase in fees, perhaps also because of the favorable labor market which lures young people by offering high wages, registration has fallen below the 731 combined enrolment in 1955-56 of Normal School and College.

That, however, was a somewhat "bloated" population; the previous year there were 588 (almost the same as our present total) and three years ago there were only 460. The establishment of a two-year course in Teacher Education will result in our retaining 50 students next fall; by 1960, predictions continue to point to a student body of 1,000.

This is comparable to all that is being said on this continent; last Wednesday on his news round-up Wilson Woodside summarized the problems facing Canadian universities: "Already born are the children who will quadruple university enrolments. Buildings must be planned immediately, and the best possible teaching staffs must be available," he said, as he referred also to recent announcements of pending increased federal grants to universities.

For many months the College Council has been devoting much thought to the problem of extending this campus and of specifying building needs. To illustrate our growth, the library, which was moved to the Ewing Building in 1952 by one librarian, now has a staff of seven, and is piling books in corridors and hurriedly-made basement storage spaces.

Our combined teaching faculty now numbers 40; eight new appointees come from study and experience in the Universities of B.C., Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Western, Queens, McGill, Dalhousie, New Brunswick, Washington, Wisconsin, Texas, Oxford and Innsbruck.

Many matters challenge the College faculty. There are the two essentials of good teaching and continued research. The College's service to the community is most apparent in the Evening Division directed by Mr. R. T. Wallace, where credit courses show a percentage increase of 75 per cent in the last two years. In addition, last year, over 650 adults attended non-credit courses, and for the fall session alone 300 are already here to illustrate a belief in the modern motto: "continuous learning."

Since the Summer School conducted on this campus for the last two years by the Department of Education has ceased to exist, the College is making plans to offer, in July and August, a variety of arts, education, and leisure courses for citizens and tourists.

Set a Standard

Most of all, the faculty is concerned with maintaining those standards which have distinguished Victoria College for fifty-four years, and with extending its efforts to train teachers who, as someone has said "must learn more than techniques—they must be people of character and taste, people who will set a standard for the nation." Those on this platform realize the importance, urgency and vastness of the task; they continue to tackle it with intelligence, enthusiasm and their customary devotion.

May I pay tribute to the spirit of unity that characterizes my faculty as its members work together with students to maintain the many cultural values cherished and fostered in an academic atmosphere.

As they do so, they know that they have, as in the past, the support of the University with which the College is affiliated, of the Department of Education and of the College Council; to the representatives of these corporate bodies, we express sincere thanks and a promise of the very best we can do.

The Boomerang Tax

The Vancouver Sun

YOU might not believe this after suffering under Ottawa's almost unbroken string of super-surplus budgets. But it's true.

The federal government has actually devised a tax that isn't big enough. It's the magazine tax effective next Jan. 1. This is the one dreamed up by Finance Minister Walter Harris and the Canadian magazine lobby. It puts a 20 per cent levy on the advertising revenue of Canadian editions of U.S. magazines.

The idea was to make it tougher for them to do business and so confer a competitive advantage on the Canadian publishers.

As foreseen, the victims of the discrimination had to raise their advertising rates. But the advertisers still wish to buy the space. They intend to make up the difference by reducing their advertising in the Canadian productions. Notices of this intention are already going out. One magazine has learned that it will lose four pages at $4,000 each. Others will be even worse off.

What does the government do now? Well, no self-respecting dictator, on setting out to alter and influence the reading habits of his subjects, would tolerate this situation. And a government famous for its emergency powers legislation and its pipeline debate closure will lose face if it permits its edicts to be nullified by the laws of the market place.

It has amply demonstrated long since that criticism means nothing to it. So there's only one thing left to do. Raise the tax. If the principle was correct in the first place, the government must keep on raising the levy until its purpose is achieved.

It makes no difference that, in the hard-headed judgment of businessmen, the Canadian people prefer to read Canadian editions of U.S. magazines. The public's preference has nothing to do with it. Not any more than if the government decided to tax oranges to make the people eat apples. Doesn't the government know what's good for them?—And isn't the government supreme?

'The Garden City'

THIS column strikes me as having been a very worthy and dull of late. So let's have a little fun today. Let's consider the subject of manure.

It seems to be a good Victorian subject. Or so says a woman from Edmonton who declares that on her annual visit to this Garden City she invariably finds herself at a tea party where everyone is talking manure for gardens.

It's true, I guess. I know that since I heard this story I've thought of dozens of people who grow quite lyrical on the subject of manure. Their eyes sparkle. Their voices take on a keener tone. They lean forward in their chairs, and interrupt and contradict each other without any thought of manners.

Take, for instance, the woman who talked for 20 minutes about turkey droppings.

"Turkey for me," she said, quite fiercely. "I swear by turkey. A well-filled sack from the turkey farm is the nicest present I could have."

And it seems that she goes out to friends who have a turkey farm, and comes home with a precious sack tucked into the trunk of her car. (Think of what a road check would reveal about Victorian habits!)

What's more, there's peat moss in the turkey houses, and "With the peat moss, too, you see, it's absolutely perfect."

(And I must confess that I was quite absorbed by her description of the growth in the place where her friends bury the turkey feathers after plucking. "Tremendous growth," she said. "The nitrogen, you know.")

I've thought of the Sanian citizen, a highly-educated man, whose idea of Heaven is to put on his oldest clothes and take a bucket to a farmer-neighbor so he can rootle round in the messy purlieu of the barn. I've thought of the man who swears by horse manure.

"I dug a trench," he said, "and lined it with horse manure, and put the potatoes right into it. My father-in-law said they'd be scabby. They were wonderful. Just wonderful. Never had such a crop in my life."

I've thought of a luncheon of intelligent, middle-aged women where the conversation suddenly shifted from the symphony and Mozart to gardens and manure.

I've thought of a man who looked as if he'd inherited the earth as he watched a load of cow manure being dumped for his garden.

I've thought of the farmer who wouldn't sell a load of manure, no matter what you paid him.

"What comes out of my land goes back into it," he says, and no amount of pleading will soften his dedicated heart.

I've thought, with pity, of the heretic who's bored by conversations about manure, and refers to gardening as "this perpetual irritation of the earth."

I've thought, with scorn, of the chumps who want to take the tallyho off our streets because you know what is an affront to their pernickety little souls.

Such people aren't true Victorians. They have no real place in our Garden City.

"I can't think what the town is coming to," a sweet-faced Victorian lady said, quite pink with protest. "Why, this summer, I saw a man run out with a bucket and a shovel after the tallyho had passed along his street. He looked pleased as Punch. And I don't wonder."

Queer, dear Victoria. What fun Ruth Draper would have with some of us.

Is there any other city in the world with such a magnificent sense of values?

But it took the story of the woman from Edmonton to show me how sane and sensible we are.

Definitely down to earth!

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Let Them Whistle

LONDON—At random. . . . BRITISH MOVIE STAR Deborah Kerr, who got to the top of the Hollywood tree with "From Here to Eternity" and is currently starring in "The King and I," has had this reaction on a trip home:

"In London I see young girls tottering along on too high heels, with their hair looking like an unmade bed and their bustline exaggerated. They see Marilyn Monroe or Ava Gardner so successful up there on the screen and seeing their men happily watching them, they fret: 'Does he want me to walk with a wiggle like Monroe? Does he want me to look or behave like Gardner? If I do, shall I hold him more easily?'"

"It is so silly, because one of the things I have learned about men is that you should never interfere with their dreams about a film star or any other woman who appears on the surface to be so sexy."

"Let a man whistle after the girls if he wants to—it makes him feel he is quite a fellow and he is happy about it. But that doesn't mean he would want to be married to an Ava Gardner or a Monroe in real life. If he were faced with such a marriage he would be plain scared."

THERE'S MANY a person here still chortling about Randolph Churchill coming a cropper on the $64,000 quiz show. Those of us who have been exposed to the younger Churchill know that up until his appearance on this quiz, the problem was not to get him started talking but to stop him talking.

Amazing the power of a mike or a TV camera (or both) to make a person freeze up. You know the answer, but you're confronted with a blank spot. With people I know who discuss the quiz show I'm on and say, "Fancy your not knowing such-and-such an answer." I invite them along to be contestants and it's fascinating to listen to the silence that pours forth from them.

ASKED WHAT makes people laugh, comedian Tommy Trinder quoted Max Eastman, the American author who defined a joke as a process in which you start a listener off towards a plausible goal and then by a sudden twist land him somewhere where he didn't expect to go.

As a good example of this Eastman always put forward the story of the woman who had a parrot which laid square eggs. "And does your parrot talk much?" asked a friend. "No," was the reply, "all she ever says is 'Ouch!'"

THE PYRAMID PARTIES that were so popular a while back have given way to Coincidence Parties. No money is involved, as had been the case with the pyramids. It's merely a way of finding an excuse to throw another party. Guests are invited to tell a story of coincidence, historical or personal, and marks are awarded by the rest of the party. Person with the lowest marks gives the next Coincidence Party. Highest marked coincidence so far: Churchill (day, not Randolph) and Attlee had the same nanny, a Mrs. Everest.

She indicated that she was

Miss Whitton is a publicly desire to work actively in helping swing women's votes to Diefenbaker should he be successful in winning the party's leadership.

Drug Addiction Solution In U.K.: Don't Prosecute

WINNIPEG (CP)—Sir Hugh Linstead of London, president of the International Pharmaceutical Association, says Britain has found an excellent way to rid itself of drug addicts—by not prosecuting them.

Here for meetings with Manitoba druggists, Sir Hugh said in an interview that drug addicts in Britain can go to authorities who will put them under a doctor's care. If necessary the doctor will prescribe a small dose of the drug to keep the addict going.

"We have fewer than 100 addicts in Britain and nobody is driven to crime because they need money for dope."

Sir Hugh said he was in favor of water fluoridation. He said the general public's doubt of fluoridation's value was not justified.

He said fluoridation has been proved on a large scale in the United States and "even we who are very cautious, are using it now. I can't see why children from any country shouldn't be protected from dental decay."

Don Cossack Chorus Here Tuesday Night

The world-travelled Don Cossack Chorus and Dancers return to Victoria Tuesday for a one-night engagement at Central Junior High School.

Concert starts at 8.15 p.m. Tickets can be obtained from Kiwanis Club members, Eaton's ticket office and at the door.

The Don Cossack group, which performs without piano or microphone, appears in the uniform of the Russian Cossacks, and has a range of music stretching from religious to folk melodies and classical.

The program includes also some popular American melodies and Cossack dancing. The latter includes a dagger dance where 10 knives are juggled from shoulders, forehead and teeth by G. Solodukhin.

The choir was organized in 1927 in Prague, Czechoslovakia. The 25 singers are said to be exiles from their native land since 1920 but they are now, all United States citizens.

Full name of the group is the General Platoff Don Cossack Chorus and Dancers. General Platoff was a hero of the defence of Russia against the invading Napoleon armies in 1812. The word Don is derived from the region in which the Cossacks lived, on the shores of the Don River.

The chorus has performed over 6,000 times in 65 countries. Kiwanis Club, sponsor of the event, have announced proceeds from the concert will be used to promote the Kiwanis Junior Safety Patrol, organized for patrol duty at school crosswalks.

Legion Gives Scholarships To 4 Students

Scholarships totalling $950 have been presented to four students by the Pro Patria branch, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L.

Student at Victoria College, K. Anne Lucas received the Sir Percy Lake Memorial scholarship of $250, an annual award given by the Victoria and District zone council of the Canadian Legion.

B.C. Command scholarships of $250 each were presented to Elizabeth Belobaba and Isobel Ogle, and a command scholarship of $200, to John T. English.

The last-named scholarships are three of 18 awarded in B.C. this year by the combined Legion and Ladies' Auxiliaries commands.

Winners must be veterans of the Second World War or sons or daughters of veterans of the First or Second World War.

They are selected on the basis of high scholastic standing. Guest speaker was Dr. J. Beattie MacLean, professor of German at Victoria College.

Tommy is his name, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair G. Trimble.

Mrs. Trimble wrote the RCMP expressing appreciation for "kindness and courtesy exhibited by the gentlemen in your service."

Tommy came up here with one thought only in mind: to meet a scarlet-coated Mountie. He went to headquarters and was given a booklet, "A Career in Scarlet With The Royal Canadian Mounted Police."

Unfortunately, the constable who presented the booklet was not in scarlet at all, but in the "working brown" garb of the force. Tommy was disappointed, until steered to the sunset ceremonies here when constables were in their red and gold.

"He was a very bright boy and asked a lot of questions," said Constable W. H. Sutton, there at the time. He and two other members of the force signed the booklet for Tommy.

In a letter of appreciation to RCMP headquarters, Tommy's mother said "there are thousands of small boys... who have returned from your lovely country feeling cheated and disillusioned to find no red-coated mountie in evidence except as commercialized on souvenirs and postal and tourist gimmicks. This places the entire force in the category of Santa Claus and the Easter Bunny, a sort of humbug dreamed up by adults to fool little children."

She added: "You men are a living symbol of the ideals and decencies we dream of in a peaceful world, meaning far more to western civilization than the Palace Guards or the Beefeaters do in England, since you are not an anachronism but represent a living, growing, developing spirit of law and order."

Let there always be a Mountie dressed in scarlet for the world to see, she urged.

"I promise you that through life in our child's heart there will be a little more meaning to justice and the keeping of the peace because of his scarlet-coated Mountie friend."

She said her home, with Tommy's pictures of Mounties everywhere, "has become a veritable symbol of friendship between our countries."

Tommy promises to come back to Victoria as soon as he can, to see his Mounties.

SOUNDS EXCITING!
 "You mean some NEW show coming?"

 "Oh yes, I've heard the fellows at the Plant talking about it."
 "Well I've heard the whole paper is soon to be in a compact tabloid form—the magazine section too—and printed in Rotogravure."
 "Yes—and I'm told the NEW Star Weekly is to be new in many other ways as well as new size. The Picture section is going to be fascinating in the flowing sequences of its pictures and colorings."
 "Well it does sound exciting—when do we get it?"

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

To the Man Who is Hesitating...

There are many motorists here in this community who have given serious consideration to the purchase of a new Cadillac car this year—and yet, for one reason or another, have not made the move.

If you are among them, we hope that you will pause to read the little message that follows. For we are sure you will find it interesting.

Ordinarily, when a man hesitates to make the move to Cadillac, it is because he is not familiar with the practical aspects of Cadillac ownership.

Insofar as original cost is concerned, for instance, a Cadillac is eminently practical. Several models, in fact, are actually priced competitively with the so-called "medium-priced" makes.

Operating and maintenance costs are also remarkably low. We have heard it said by new owners that Cadillac is the most economical automobile they have ever owned.

And as for resale value—well, Cadillac traditionally retains a greater share of its worth through the years than any other car in the land.

In short, the great Cadillac car represents one of the wisest and soundest automotive investments on the highway today. And consider, for a moment, all the wonderful things that would be yours with the "car of cars"—Cadillac's great performance... its magnificent luxury and comfort... its brilliant beauty... and the marvellous pride and satisfaction that come with ownership of the Standard of the World.

That's a lot to deny yourself... especially when it could be yours so easily.

The moral of our message is this: It is still not too late to set things right in a 1956 Cadillac!

We have a selection of new Cadillacs on hand—and we can promise you both prompt delivery and a generous trade-in allowance.

Why not come in today?

Lose Third Straight at Calgary; Haworth to Miss Tonight's Game

By BILL RAYNER

Home are the Victoria Cougars tonight from a jarring road trip through the WHL's prairie circuit, owners of a three-game losing streak and considerable quantities of determination.

Amerks Take Over WHL Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Seattle forward Ray Kinasevich scored two goals Saturday night to lead the Americans to a 5-3 victory over Vancouver Canucks and top place in the Western Hockey League's Coast division standings.

Kinasevich, who fired only 16 goals for Edmonton Flyers last season, now shares individual scoring honors with linemate Guyle Fielder. Each has 13 points.

In Brandon, New Westminster Royals fell before the Regals at the 28-second mark of an overtime period. The 5-4 win gave Regals first place in the prairie division standings with nine points, three ahead of Calgary and Edmonton, both tied for second place.

Canuck right winger Jackie McLeod was the scoring standout in the Vancouver-Seattle contest. He tallied his second hat trick in as many nights to monopolize Vancouver's scoring. The closely-fought game between Brandon and New Westminster saw Royals take a 3-2 third-period lead, fade before two fast goals by Regals and then score an equalizer with two minutes remaining.

In overtime, Regals gained possession at the face-off. Les Lilley relayed to rookie Willie Voss who out-guessed two defencemen to score the winner, his second of the game.

Tillicums Pull Away In Div. 1

Tillicums opened up a four-point lead over MacNuts Grocery in Division One of the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Soccer Association Sunday by defeating the Grocers, 4-1, at Reynolds Road.

At Beacon Hill Park, the Optimists took a commanding six-point lead in Division Two by trimming the witless Canadian Scottish squad by a similar 4-1 count.

Lance Rutherford, pivot of Tillicums' starry forward line, sparked the victory over MacNuts, opening the scoring and firing the clinching goal late in the contest.

After Rutherford's opening tally, Jamie Costain made it 2-0 before Glen Robbins sliced the margin just before the intermission. Gary Cooper followed Rutherford's insurance marker with Tillicums' fourth goal just at the final whistle.

In the Division Two contest, Robin Barnes put on a spectacular performance to sink the Scots.

Barnes rapped in three goals as Optimists took a 3-0 lead in the opening half and capped his fine effort with a fourth goal in the second session. Jimmy Peters saved the Scots from a blanking with a second-half tally.

EDMONTON—Will Greaves, 159, Edmonton, stopped Arley Seifer, 152, Pittsburgh (7).

Cadets Use Drakes For Title Warm-Up

Royal Roads, warming up for next Saturday's B.C. junior football championship game against Vancouver Meralomas, made 47-0 hash out of Oak Bay Drakes Sunday at Creery Field.

It was the second meeting between the two clubs, Royal Roads having won the first encounter, 62-0.

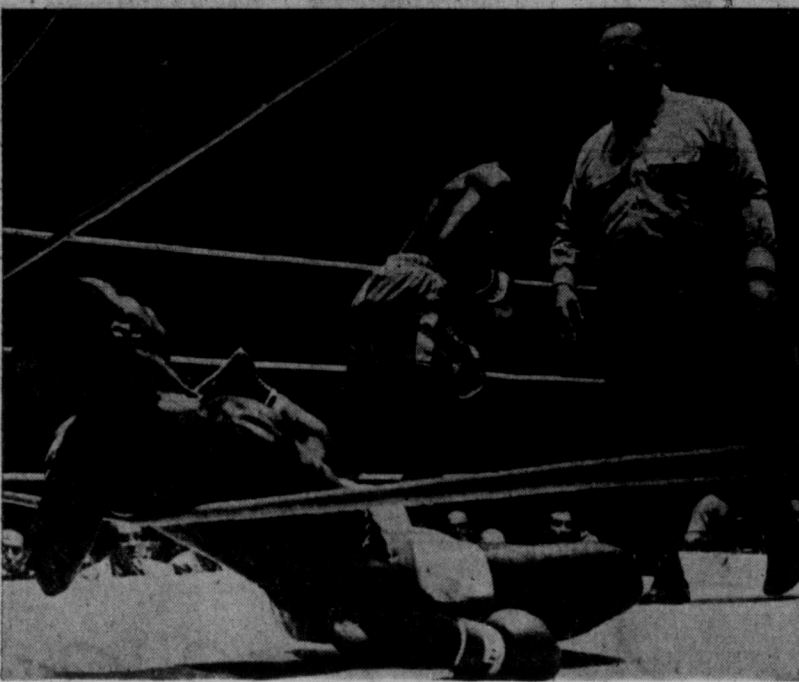

Cadets, although they were without first string quarterback Cal Connors, scored in every quarter as their line outgained the Drake forward wall and were paced by lightweight half-back Scotty Simpson, who scored three of their touchdowns, all on short plunges.

Drakes, hard-hit by injuries, dressed only 17 players for the game as they were without seven regulars.

Ian Roussac plunged four yards for the first cadet major in the first quarter and Simpson scored the second. Doug Kuzich took a pass from quarterback Clark in the second quarter but the cadets piled up three more majors in the third quarter by Simpson, Bill Houson and Jeff White.

Drakes' best offensive threat were the passes of quarterback Barry Burgess and the excellent receiving of end Ian McDonald, who caught eight for yards.

Punjab Thumps Butlers To Share Second Spot

Punjab United, rated as one of the teams most likely to finish in last place before the Victoria and District Football League season opened, has shouldered its way into the ranks of the top contenders for league honors.

Boosted this season by the addition of several key players, the United booters Sunday smashed their way into a second-place tie with Butler Brothers by trimming Butlers, 4-1, Central Park.

In other games Sunday, Gorge Hotel stepped into a two-point lead with a 6-2 victory over Tillicums at Heywood Avenue and Esquimalt flashed surprising power to wallop Heaneys, 6-0, at Macdonald Park.

WASHED OUT
Saturday's scheduled McGavin Cup match between Canadian Scottish and Brodies Bakery was postponed because of wet grounds.

Adrie Hendrickson rapped in two goals to pace Punjab to the win over Butlers. United took a 2-1 lead at the half on tallies by George Brown and Hendrickson and added goals by Eddie Lorenz and Hendrickson in the second session. Henry Vanderhorst scored Butlers' lone marker.

Keith Todd and veteran Nip Sage put on a two-man show as Esquimalt handed Heaneys one of their worst defeats in several seasons. Todd turned in a four-goal performance with two tallies in each half and Sage collected the other two goals, one in each half.

Whitworth Bumps UBC

VANCOUVER (CP)—Whitworth College of Spokane, Wash., downed the University of British Columbia 21-13 in an Evergreen College football game here Saturday.

Dick Lashua and Dan Nickish ran touchdowns in the first and second quarters to give Whitworth a 14-0 lead before Jack Henwood could get around the Whitworth line and score for the Thunderbirds.

Lashua scored again for the Americans in the third quarter and with Jack Bates converting they stretched their total to 21 points. With 19 seconds left to play, UBC fullback Henwood intercepted a pass and ran 65 yards for a touchdown.

The Spokane win, taken before 3,000 fans, was their second in four league games. It was UBC's fourth straight loss.

Brooks Lose Again; Newk Storms Again

TOKYO (AP)—Brooklyn Dodgers were beaten 6-1 Sunday by perhaps the strongest Japanese baseball team ever assembled.

Japan All-Stars, nearly all 300-plus hitters, knocked Don Newcombe from the mound with four hits on his first 17 pitches.

It was the National League champions' second loss in three games in Japan.

Newcombe stormed from the stadium by taxi before the first inning ended. Ed Roebuck took over.

It is believed to be the first time a visiting major-league team has lost two games to a Japanese team.

Brooklyn's run was the fourth when catcher Roy Campanella doubled to second across Gil Hodges who walked.

The Japanese used three pitchers, who allowed Brooklyn five hits.

ARCARO SUSPENDED

Lions Stretch Skein With Late Field Goal

NEW YORK (AP)—Chicago Cardinals and Detroit Lions remained unbeaten through the fourth week of the National Football League competition Sunday although Lions needed a field goal by Bobby Layne in the last 17 seconds to defeat San Francisco 49ers 20-17 for their fourth victory.

Cardinals intercepted six passes, recovered two fumbles and blocked a field goal attempt as they struck for 17 points in the last quarter and 20-6 victory over Philadelphia Eagles in gaining their fourth straight triumph.

Gorge was in front, 2-1, at the intermission on goals by Ian Holroyd and Kurt Lampert then nailed down the decision as Lampert collected his second tally and Constable scored his "hat trick". Ced Robb scored both goals for Tillicums.

Habs Serve Notice Of Return to Form

Force Tie For Third; Wings Tied

By The Canadian Press

Montreal Canadiens are showing some of their class that rocketed them to the National Hockey League title and Stanley Cup championship last season.

Few, if anybody, figured they could be suppressed for any length of time.

The Montrealers came up with some of their old-time power Saturday with a 5-0 victory over New York Rangers. It was the second win in four games for Canadiens — both by shutouts.

The Saturday win undoubtedly gave the other five clubs in the league the impression Canadiens are fast rounding into shape. It was the only engagement of the weekend, for Canadiens. The Habs, who amassed 100 points in their drive to first place last season, are tied for third spot with Toronto Maple Leafs and Boston Bruins.

In the other Saturday game, Bruins scored early in the third period to gain a 2-2 tie with Leafs before 13,003 fans at Toronto.

HAWKS DOWNED AGAIN
Rangers bounced back Sunday night to snatch a 4-1 victory from the last-place Hawks at New York's Madison Square Garden.

Guy Gendron led the Blueshirts with two goals, only three short of his 1955-56 output. Meanwhile, Bruins were registering their third deadlock of the young season by battling Detroit Red Wings to a 3-3 decision.

The Wings now lead the pack with eight points on three wins and two deadlocks. Rangers are second with six points. Montreal, Toronto and Boston each has five and the Hawks, who registered only 19 victories in 70 games last season, are last with one point.

At Montreal, Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion scored two goals for Canadiens. Bert Olmstead, Jean Beliveau and Floyd Curry each got one.

It was the 17th consecutive regular-schedule game in which Rangers have failed to win on Montreal ice.

SLOAN SCORES FOURTH
At Toronto, Jerry Toppazzini was the third-period scorer who tied the game for Bruins: Centre Jack Caffery, dealt to Boston by Leafs in an off-season trade this year, scored the other Bruin goal, in the second period. Left winger Dick Duff and centre Tod Sloan scored for Leafs in the first period. It was Sloan's fourth goal in five games. He scored 37 last season.

Except for the sensational work of goalie Ed Chadwick, Bruins would have won. Chadwick, starting his first full season with Leafs, made tremendous third-period stops on Boston's Leo Labine, Johnny Peirson and Larry Regan. Chadwick handled 25 shots. Terry Sawchuk in the Boston cage stopped 20 Leaf shots.

Rangers grabbed a 2-0 lead against Hawks. Gendron supplied both of them on pileups in front of the Hawk nets. Danny Lewicki and Andy Bathgate got the other Ranger goals. Harry Watson tallied for Hawks, who are winless in five starts.

STASIK STRONG
At Detroit, Vic Stasik, a former Detroit scorer, scored two goals for Bruins. His second goal tied the game. Labine supplied the other Boston goal.

WINTER CUP GOLF
Mrs. M. J. Whyte took both low net and low gross honors in "A" division of the women's Winter Cup competition at Uplands Golf Club.

Mrs. H. L. Woolson captured low gross laurels in "B" division and Mrs. P. C. Coe posted the best net score.

KEEPE'S TITLE
SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—Scottish boxer Peter Kennan retained his British Empire heavyweight title at Sydney stadium Sunday when he knocked out Australia's Kevin James in the second round.

MEXICO CITY—Baby Vasquez, 135-4, Mexico, outpointed Red Davis, 134-4, Los Angeles (10).

Edmonton Ring Pride Campaigns for Vejar

EDMONTON (CP)—Will Greaves, now Edmonton's pride of professional boxing, made his hometown debut as a pro winning one Saturday night, scoring a seventh-round technical knockout over Arley Seifer of Pittsburgh, but the 20-year-old fighter didn't get a chance to really show his stuff.

Seifer, who dropped a split decision to Greaves in their first meeting about eight months ago at Pittsburgh, didn't put up much of a defence against the Edmonton slugger and offensively he didn't land a solid punch.

Greaves, however, will likely get another chance Dec. 17 before an Edmonton crowd.

Pro promoters here announced Greaves and his manager Jake Mintz have agreed to meet either Chico Vejar of Stanford, Conn., a known U.S. fighter, or Gordon Wallace of Brantford, Ont., British Empire middleweight title holder.

Before the Greaves-Seifer fight, it was reported the winner might meet Wallace in a title match here, but it is not settled and Vejar is believed the most likely opponent for the Dec. 17 match.

The victory Saturday night was the 10th in 14 professional bouts for Greaves, who weighed in at 159 pounds. Seifer, 152, now has a 12-18 record.

A crowd of 2,124 paid expressed its displeasure with the apparent weakness of Seifer, who spent most of the time bent over with his hands over his head and taking every punch Greaves cared to throw.

The Edmonton fighter, who won the British Empire amateur light middleweight championship at Vancouver in 1954, opened strongly in the first round and by the end of the second it was obvious Seifer wouldn't go the scheduled 10 rounds.

One of Those Days Admits Etcheverry

MONTREAL (BUP)—Football fans and players alike still were in a state of shock today following Saturday's "record" title-winning, 82-14, victory by the Montreal Alouettes over the stunned and humiliated Hamilton Tiger Cats.

Never in the annals of professional football had one team ever scored so freely as the Alouettes, Big Four champions for the fourth straight year, trampled the supposedly tough Tiger-Cats. Montreal, fielding the same team that, had won nine of 11 previous starts, helped establish at least 24 league, Canadian or all-pro records plus at least another 25 marks that could be classified as continuous, or records that they are breaking every game they play.

Even more fantastic than the final outcome was the fact that the Alouettes scored all of their 82 points in the first 44 minutes and 40 seconds of the game. In fact they were out-scored in the final quarter when Hamilton scored seven points while Montreal was scoreless.

Two of the brightest stars of the bewildering rout were Montreal quarterback Sam Etcheverry and end Hal Patterson.

BEST ANSWER
The big question by every Monday morning quarterback in town was, why? How could it happen? Perhaps the best answer was offered by Etcheverry, the slim man from Albuquerque, who directed the 12-touchdown onslaught.

"It was just one of those days," he said. "Nothing we did would go wrong, and of course those interceptions we made in the first period really had a big hand in it."

"I can't explain it," Sam said. "It's never happened to me before. And I don't think any of the other players could tell you how or why it happened. It was just one of those things. But I remember saying to some of the guys after Harold (Patterson) ran back that long kick-off return that 'I guess anything can happen in this game.'"

The crowd of 22,365, used to seeing the high-scoring Alouettes the opposition in 21 straight previous home victories, were not too excited when Alouettes took a three-touchdown lead after the first 15 minutes. But when Montreal rolled for five more in the next period and led 54-7 at halftime they were screaming for blood.

"Let's make it 100," some shouted as coach Peasehead Walker started his first team again in the third quarter.

The humiliation suffered by the Tiger-Cats even reached the victorious Alouettes. After the game big Tex Coulter, Jim Staton, Red O'Quinn and several players headed straight for the Hamilton bench, where they extended sympathies to the beaten Hamiltonians.

"I kinda felt sorry for some of those older players like Vince Scott and Ed Bevan and some of the others," Etcheverry admitted.

Drakes Score Exhibition Win

Oak Bay Drakes, pace-setters in the Victoria Intermediate Canadian Football League, romped to a 38-10 victory over University of British Columbia squad in an exhibition game at Vancouver Sunday.

Gordie Hemmingsway, Red White, Gary Taylor, Ted Koska and Ken Calderhead each scored a touchdown for the Drakes. Koska added a field goal and four converts while Pete Turko, who played a standout game at end, booted one Oak Bay convert.

Stamps May Be Fly in Ointment

Can Thwart Riders Tonight; Alouettes Rewrite Record Book

By the Canadian Press

Calgary's playoff hopes in the Western Interprovincial Football Union were snuffed out long ago, but they aren't playing patsy to anybody. The Stampede proved it Saturday night when they put a crimp to any plans Winnipeg Blue Bombers had of a better-than-third-place finish.

If the new-found inspiration under quarterback Ronnie Knox can keep Stampede on their feet tonight, the last-place Cowboys might be able to deliver a knockout punch that will doom Saskatchewan Roughriders to second place for a third straight year.

Calgary rose up behind their former UCLA quarterback, obtained in mid-season after he quit Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four to swat Bombers 25-17 on a Knox pass, Knox lateral and two pass interceptions before 15,922 at Winnipeg.

That, coupled with Riders' 25-22 victory over British Columbia Lions before 18,239 fans in the last game of the season at Vancouver, left Bombers in third place, two points behind Riders and with just one game left.

Mathematics Argos' Lone Hope

Tiger-Cats had already made sure of a playoff spot but they can't be certain of a second-place finish. Ottawa Rough Riders looked after this by defeating Toronto Argonauts 37-26 at Ottawa, leaving Argos only a slim mathematical play-off threat.

The Als lead with 20 points. Tiger-Cats have 12. Ottawa 10 and Toronto six. Only two more games remain.

In the senior Ontario Rugby Football Union, London Lords were crushed 23-14 by Toronto Balm Beach and Sarnia Golden Bears won 28-20 over Kitchener Waterloo Dutchmen. Dutchmen remain in first place, two points ahead of Toronto.

Riders' victory, behind the passing of quarterback Frank Tripucka, pulled them within two points of the league-leading Eskimos and both clubs now have two games remaining.

Saskatchewan meets Stampede twice, at Calgary tonight and at Regina next Saturday, while Eskimos meet B.C. at Edmonton tonight before tackling Bombers in their final scheduled contest.

A rider loss and Eskimo win tonight would give Edmonton first place for a third successive year; the reverse would put Saskatchewan and Edmonton in a first-place tie, while Eskimo and Riders victories will leave the final say to the last games next weekend. In event of a tie at the end, Eskimos points-for-and-against average likely would give them the play-off bye into the finals.

Dean Renfro, a late-season acquisition from Baltimore Colts, paced the scoring of Stampede, who have looked stronger every time out since Knox arrived. Renfro took a 21-yard pass from Knox for one touchdown and grabbed a lateral from the quarterback and streaked 52 yards on a play that went 61 in all for another.

Bob McNamara, among the leaders in the WIFU individual ground gaining race, picked up two Bomber touchdowns, plunging over from the two after end Norm Rauhaus had intercepted a Knox pass, and driving through from the five after leading a long ground attack for another.

At Vancouver, Tripucka threw three touchdowns passes to beat the hard-trying Lions, who end their season tonight at Edmonton.

Atomic Als Blast Out Chain of Grid Marks

MONTREAL (BUP) — The Montreal Alouettes touched off a chain reaction of new football records — at least 24 new ones and as many more "continuous" marks — Saturday when they humiliated the Hamilton Tiger-Cats, 82-14, to win their fourth straight big four championship.

Many of the records have never been equalled in the annals of pro football, either in Canada or the United States, while still others are improvement on marks set earlier in the year and increased with each game.

For instance, when quarterback Sam Etcheberry completed his 20th pass and then left the game, the toss established no less than nine records.

Some of the new league, Canadian or all-time pro marks set during the game were: (old records in parentheses):

GAME RECORDS
Most points two teams—98 (87, earlier this year by the same two teams—44 Hamilton 43, Montreal 54, Nov. 1, 1959).
Most touchdowns two teams—14, Montreal 12, Hamilton 2 (12, Toronto 10, Montreal 9, Oct. 9, 1959).
GAME RECORDS BY ONE TEAM
Most points—82 (78, Toronto, against Montreal, Nov. 3, 1959).
Most points one quarter—34, 2nd quarter, Montreal (30, Ottawa against Hamilton, 2nd quarter, Oct. 15, 1959).
Most first downs—41, Montreal (39, Montreal against Ottawa, Oct. 1, 1959).
Most scoring plays—32, Montreal (12, 1952) gained in one season exceeds any touchdowns, nine converts, one single thing ever set in pro football.

Putts Drop; Gorge Aces Keep Pins

Joe Pryke, partnering John Merriman in the Victoria open button golf match at Royal Colwood Golf Club Sunday, rammed down a 15-foot putt on the 18th green to give the Gorge Vale duo a 1-up victory over Bob Morrison and Frank Scroggs of Uplands.

Great putting was a feature of the match, in which Pryke and Merriman, defending the buttons for the first time, got away to a great start and were four under par as they took a 3-up lead after seven holes.

Scroggs helped keep the margin down as he dropped a 15-foot fourth putt for a half on the fourth hole and won the fifth when his 30-footer dropped for a birdie.

Pryke rapped in a 12-foot birdie putt on the sixth and stroked a 30-footer into the cup for a birdie on the seventh.

Only one up at the turn after bogies on the eighth and ninth, Merriman and Pryke went two holes ahead as Merriman won the 13th.

Morrison trimmed the margin with a birdie at the 14th and squared the match at the 17th hole with a great 35-foot birdie putt, only to see Pryke win it with a par on the final green.

Pryke and Merriman had a best ball of 69, while the challengers posted a best-ball score of 70.

Magic Forest Wins

NEW YORK (CP) — Magic Forest, with only one previous victory in 13 starts, won the $136,275 Garden State Stakes at Garden State Park Saturday after the first horse across the finish line, the favored Romanita, was disqualified and placed third behind Light N' Lovely.

The stewards announced that Eric Guerin, aboard Romanita, interfered with Magic Forest at the head of the stretch in the race for two-year-old fillies.

U.S. Track Stars Crack Four Marks

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP) — United States track and field members Saturday cracked four world records in the first of a series of warm-up meets before the Olympics in Australia next month.

The U.S. one-mile relay team No. 1 ran the event in 3:08.6 to better the world mark by 2-10ths of a second, and the U.S. No. 2 team equalled the world mark.

Leon Kim, University of California sprint specialist, defeated Bobby Morrow of Abilene Christian in a world-record 10.1 seconds for the 100 metres.

Parry O'Brien, former University of Southern California shot putter, again shattered his world record with a heave of 61 feet, 4 1/2 inches.

Harold Connolly of Boston College also improved on a world mark, throwing the hammer 213 feet, 8 inches. He has one better distance this year of 218 feet.

Gregory Bell won the broad jump at 26 feet, 6 1/2 inches, just two inches short of the world record.

ISLAND DIGEST Somass Fish Doom Seen by Anglers

Power Commission Dam Proposals
Protested By Alberni Outdoorsmen

Special to The Times

PORT ALBERNI—Annihilation of fishing in Somass River and Alberni Inlet is forecast by fish and game officials here if the B.C. Power Commission installs its proposed dams at Sproat and Great Central Lakes.

Alberni Fish and Game Club president Sid Richards said the MacMillan and Bloedel dam at Sproat Lake had the blessing of the fish and game people, but "hydro dams are another thing entirely. They are definitely detrimental to all fish life."

"Biologists all over America have been trying for years to find a way in which fish can pass dams on their way upstream and again on their way down. They have never been able to solve this problem," he said.

Mr. Richards said fishing would die out within 10 years if the hydro dams were constructed.

Clyde Macfarlane, well-known outdoor man in the Albernis, said bluntly: "I just can't see it. First the loggers came and ruined some of the best steel-head fishing in the valley by taking all the trees along creek banks. Now come the hydro people to try and take what recreation resources we have left. True, these people may give us wonderful parks, but that doesn't keep the fish alive."

Mr. Macfarlane said he felt that with atomic hydro-electric power so close to realization, the price sportsmen and fishermen are being asked to pay is too great.

Third member of the fish and game club to comment, Ken Wickwire claimed that $400,000,000 had been spent in the U.S. to try to solve the fishing problem on the Columbia River. "But no solution has been found."

GRACIOUS AGE, VIVACIOUS YOUTH CATCH CAMERA'S ROVING EYE

By DINAH KERR

The beauties of age as well as youth sparkled through the lens of a Times' photographer's camera today as shown in pictures above.

At left, Miss Canada, Dorothy Moreau, 24, winks roguishly into the mirror of a piece of luggage she's demonstrating in a local department store.

At right, the Ciechanowskis, Juliana, 77, and August, 81, celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary amid bouquets of flowers from well-wishers.

August proffered a rose to his wife. "Here," he said. "Gat you good smell."

A titian-haired beauty, Miss Moreau bested 25 other finalists in the Miss Canada contest this year to prove to her nine brothers "I could do something they couldn't do." She is touring Canada on her 38th major trip since being named Miss Canada six months ago.

The Ciechanowskis have come a long way, too. Since their wedding day in Alexandrov, Russia (now part of Poland), they've travelled from country to country through two revolutions and a depression.

"We have hard time," said August. "Bin kommen through revolution in Russia, then live in Germany 24 years, then ist kommen revolution, so bin kommen Canada in depression time."

"Ich bin have an illness in my knees, so cannot work," Mr. Ciechanowski explained. "My wife work in garden and raise potatoes."

"I like it doing," said Mrs. Ciechanowski.

"Sure," said her husband. "Illness cannot bring us down. The hard times every time bring a little bit down, but odder times we kommen high again."

On the living room wall was a large "No Smoking" sign. Mr. Ciechanowski smiled. "We no like it," he said. "I am very strong smoking once and doctor told me if I not stop, I die."

"From this time I am not liking it."

BETWEEN TIMES By MONTE ROBERTS

For the past three weeks or so, a clipping has occupied a spot on the end table beside my chair at the house we live in.

(By clipping, I mean cutting, if you are recently here from over 'ome.)

Why I clipped it in the first place, I do not know. But it has developed an almost fatal fascination for me.

The clipping (or cutting) is from a magazine devoted to outdoor recreation, such as killing fish, animals, and birds.

It is from the classified section, in the small type at the back of the book, and, despite its insignificant size, the contents are engraved on the retina of my memory in letters of fire:

"FISHWORM culture. . . This booklet 'Raising Worms For Pleasure Or Profit' tells how to fix beds indoors, outdoors; small or commercial scale, what, when, how to feed; how to keep worms from crawling out; how and where to sell worms. $1.00 postpaid. Write for worm prices."

Perhaps you can figure out why this clipping (or cutting) is on the table beside my chair.

If you can, you know more about me than I do.

As far as I know, I have no wish to become acquainted with fishworms, even the cultured type.

Offhand, I can't see much pleasure in raising worms.

As for fixing beds indoors, I have been doing this for years, but fail to see why I should do so for the benefit of a fishworm. (Even a cultured one, as noted above.)

Why I should keep at my right hand an advertisement hinting that I, too, can learn when and how to feed a fishworm is something far beyond my wildest imagination.

And as for knowledge of keeping worms from crawling, who am I to tell a worm when not to crawl? Worms have been crawling ever longer than I have been tottering about on my decrepit legs, and that is a long time, indeed.

The only possible solution which occurs to me is, my innate cupidity may have acted, and compelled me to keep this clipping (or cutting) in case I ever acquired a worm, accidentally, and wished to sell it and retire to a life of ease on the proceeds.

But basically, I am stumped by the continued existence of this fishworm item on the table beside my chair.

I will be happy to entertain any solutions advanced by the constituents.

And if that doesn't leave me wide open, nothing ever will.

EXPERTS SAY:

TV Reception From Seattle To Stay Strong

Fears expressed in some quarters that Victoria area television viewers are in danger of losing their good reception from popular Seattle Channels 4 and 5 were dispelled by a survey today.

Technicians interviewed admitted that signals, emanating from Washington were weaker than they had been a year ago. But they were quick to explain these were caused by climatic conditions as well as the current sun spot cycle, were of a temporary nature and eventually would pass.

Eighty per cent of viewers contacted in all parts of the city were happy about their reception. Those who were not admitted they lived in "weak areas," that their signals were never strong in the first instance. There were others in the same areas who put their poor reception down to sets that were, in their own words, "antiquated."

An informal Times poll showed many viewers enjoying a reception that was "better than ever."

Sid Spencer, president of the Victoria chapter of Radio Electronics Technicians' Association, said that RETA members had been aware of the falling off of Channel 4 and 5's signal strength for the past year.

"But this doesn't mean that the signals won't return to their former strength," he said. "Most people here know that we are in a fringe area and that anything untoward in climatic conditions is bound to affect us more than if we were closer to the source of the signals. The worst that can happen is disruption from time to time in our reception from the Seattle stations owing to the prevalent instability of atmospheric conditions."

BEST RECEPTION
Vince Mielan, past president of RETA, said that such upland points as Nanaimo and Royston report they are enjoying the best reception they've ever had.

While admitting that Seattle signals were weaker, Mr. Mielan thought this was more than offset by the superior TV sets manufactured during the past two years.

Another report that Seattle stations were likely to be converted into ultra high frequency stations and thus lost to Victorians, was termed premature by John J. Shawcroft, of KING-TV, Seattle.

"There is talk of it," he said, "but even if it should come about it is still many years away."

ELECTRIC STORM OCTOBER RARITY

Brilliant sunshine Sunday, with temperatures in the neighborhood of 54 degrees, came to Victoria in the wake of an electrical storm Saturday night that continued for about an hour.

The storm was only the ninth thunder and lightning storm to hit the city in October during 58 years of weather recording.

The storm struck in the late evening, and during one five-minute period dropped a total of 0.1 inch of rain on the city.

"That's a heavy rain, but no record," said acting city weatherman Frank Williams. "Rains of up to 0.2 inch have been recorded in five minutes here."

Young Tory President Visits City

Tom Bell, 33-year-old president of the Young Progressive Conservative Association of Canada and member of the House of Commons for Saint John-Albert, is impressed by the "high calibre" of young business and professional men now joining the organization in B.C.

"The emphasis at the moment is on quality rather than quantity, but there is a definite resurgence of interest in the Conservative party out here," Mr. Bell said in an interview here today.

He believes, too, that the Conservative representation in the House of Commons, now 53 seats, will be substantially increased at the next federal election—particularly the representation from the Maritimes and Ontario.

On a campaign tour of the western provinces, Mr. Bell addressed an open political meeting, the first of a series, at Victoria College at noon today. Earlier, as a merchant navy veteran, he visited Esquimalt installations.

He is accompanied by Gordon Sedgewick, permanent secretary of the Young Conservative Association.

On Sunday he met a group of Young Conservatives from Vancouver and Victoria at the home of Maj. Gen. G. R. Peakes, MP for Esquimalt-Saanich.

"At the moment we are out to interest Young Conservatives in the choosing of a new party leader at the Conservative conference in Ottawa on Dec. 12. This is very important since Young Conservatives will have a quarter of the total vote at the conference," Mr. Bell said.

Edgelow Wants Traffic Head At Meetings

Victoria alderman Geoffrey Edgelow's battle against a proposed city one-way street plan was carried to a council public works meeting today.

He told the committee he will attend a future meeting of traffic advisory committee unless Police Sergeant Brooke Douglass is present and heard by the group.

Sgt. Douglass, city police traffic department head, recently proposed a multiple-light plan to solve traffic bottlenecks at the Hillside-Douglas fountain circle.

The Douglass plan is supported by Ald. Edgelow because the alternative, suggested by U.S. traffic expert Jackson D. Faustman, depends on a one-way street system on Government and Douglas between Hillside and Herald.

Ald. Edgelow spoke against the plan at last council meeting when a group of Douglas Street businessmen said their business would be adversely affected by one-way streets.

Ald. Edgelow agreed the Faustman report should be studied by the public works committee, the traffic group and the police commission in a joint meeting. He rebelled when it was indicated only the police chief or the deputy would represent the police department.

"I won't come if Sgt. Douglass is not there. I think there is something funny going on if you do not want him there," said Ald. Edgelow.

"I think that is pretty small," replied Ald. Arthur Dowell.

The committee finally decided to postpone the traffic meeting until after the second part of the Faustman report is obtained by the city. It deals with off-street parking. Mr. Faustman promised the report for late November.

Two Injured When Car Crashes Store

Two men were injured and damage totaled $1,100 Saturday night when a car missed a corner, demolished a telephone booth, and crashed into the front of the Glen Lake store.

The spectacular accident occurred when a car driven on Happy Valley Road by Richard McGaw missed the corner at Sooke Road and bowled over the booth before ramming the store.

McGaw was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital with chest injuries and was reported in good condition today. His brother, James, was treated at hospital for minor cuts and released. Both men are from Vancouver.

Owner of the car, Gordon W. Chalmers, Cobble Hill, was not hurt.

Damage to the car was estimated at $700 and to the store, $400.

Inquest Returns Accidental Verdict

After a traffic accident Oct. 15, Mrs. Mary Lush, 60, 211 Cook, said "I'm all right" but died three days later of internal injuries.

Frigates Leave On 2-Week Cruise

The RCN Pacific command frigates HMCS Sussexvale and Ste. Therese left today on a two-week training cruise which will include port visits at Port Alberni and Vancouver.

They will visit Port Alberni first, then carry out exercises at Bedwell Harbor before reaching Vancouver Friday for the weekend.

Magician Big Hit At Dart Coon Club Anniversary Fete

A young Chinese magician amazed a large crowd with his tricks and acrobatics staged in Chinatown's Fisgard Street Sunday.

The occasion was the 41st anniversary of the Chinese Dart Coon Club, which was celebrated by Victoria's Chinese community with fireworks, a lion's dance, a banquet and concert.

The magician, standing in front of the club and without benefit of lighting, licked red hot poker, danced and summersaulted on broken glass, and produced bananas from an empty basket.

Hundreds of people jammed the street to see his magic which was followed by an acrobatic display staged by the Chinese Free Mason's Athletic Guild under the direction of Tommy Tong and Jack Tang.

Earlier, a Chinese dragon dance was staged on the street for the benefit of the hundreds of spectators.

In the evening, over 400 people sat down at a banquet held at Don Mee's and the C & C Gardens under the chairmanship of Wong Wah, president of the Dart Coon Club. Guest speaker was Dr. D. E. Alcorn.

The celebrations ended with a concert of Chinese music.

A verdict of accidental death was returned by a six-man coroner's jury today at Sands' Mortuary.

Mrs. Lillian Dixon, 145 Michigan, a passenger in the car that was in collision with the car in which Mrs. Lush was riding, went to the injured woman immediately after the accident.

"No my dear, I'm all right. It's just the cut on my nose," Mrs. Dixon said Mrs. Lush told her when asked if she was hurt.

BROKEN RIBS

The accident took place at about 11 p.m. at the intersection of Simcoe and Government. Cause of death was given by medical evidence as broken ribs which punctured the left lung.

Mrs. Lush was a passenger in a car driven by her sister, Miss Lillian Barton, 1044 McClure, and was proceeding along Government when it collided with a car driven by Mrs. Audrey Lowe, 426 Niagara.

Passengers in the Lowe vehicle as well as Mrs. Dixon, were Mr. and Mrs. Victor Cridland, 125 Clarence.

Mrs. Dorothy Young, 1354 Beach, who heard the crash, testified she took Mrs. Lush to hospital.

Mrs. Young said Mrs. Lush suffered intense pain en route to hospital.

The accident occurred when the Lowe car went through a stop sign which driver and passengers failed to see, witnesses

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—On Oct. 10 I mailed a money order to pay Saanich taxes due on that date. I received the receipt with a note of balance due—2 per cent added because the money order was received on Oct. 11. Is this the correct procedure? Mrs. D. L. M.

A.—Yes, it is according to the law, which is that the sum ought to have been in the municipal hall before or on the due date. If you had mailed your money order a day or two sooner there would have been no penalty.

Q.—The newspapers report Poland is attempting to throw off domination by the Communists of Russia. What is the population of the country and its area? L. G. B.

A.—The latest authoritative population estimate of 26,500,000 was made by the government in 1954. The area is 120,355 square miles. Poland, whose history dates from 965 A.D., was a great power from the fourteenth to the seventeenth century.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Sewing Materials Filed In Small Chest of Drawers

By PENNY SAVER

Sewing tables and counters can become so cluttered that it's almost impossible to find needles, thread and buttons in the heads of cloth and shreds. An idea has been borrowed from the kitchen spice shelves, and here is a small wall chest of drawers especially for your sewing room. Hand it on the wall or place it on the table, and all the little, often mislaid items will be at your fingertips. There are two styles. One is a single line of six drawers, and the other, a doubled-up chest of six drawers. Made of a polished, lightweight wood, each drawer is marked to keep contents separate. "Needles, pins, snaps, buttons, thread," are marked on the drawer fronts, and there is one drawer marked "utility."

There are two prices: $2.79 and $2.49. They would certainly be handy gifts. If you're starting to tuck away Christmas gifts to avoid the mad rush, this is a good starter.

Cold weather hats that can be worn five or six ways are available in a wide range of colors or mixed colors. They can be made into snug ski hats or neatly changed around to wear with any coat or outfit. Double sectioned, these hats have two sets or buckle-hooks to keep them on.

Supper Dance

The Saturday evening supper dance at the Empress Hotel is a favorite spot for many Victorians and visitors. This Saturday, among the many guests were Mr. George Sinclair and Miss Shirley Cornelius, celebrating their engagement. Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson of Chicago were host and hostess to Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Brown, Miss Elizabeth Smith, Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Finical, Mr. and Mrs. George Lindsay, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Robertson, Mr. J. A. Craig and Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Smith. In a party with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Edwards were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Norris, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Gordon and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gray.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Sinnott attended the supper dance with Mr. and Mrs. Leslie MacDonnell, to celebrate Mr. Sinnott's birthday.

In another party were Mr. and Mrs. J. Alexis, Mr. and Mrs. George Ganner, Mr. Bill Scott and Miss Eva Fontana.

A table for four was shared by Mr. and Mrs. J. Alan Baker and Mr. and Mrs. Allan Leith. To mark the return of Miss Carolyn Pauline from a summer trip to Europe, Miss Catriona Gillespie entertained at her home, Saturday evening, the party consisting of Lieut. Hamish Bridgman, Mr. John Graeme, Lieut. and Mrs. D. Moilliet and Mr. and Mrs. A. Moilliet. The party also attended the supper dance at the Empress Hotel.

On Etiquette

About Hospital Visitors: When I was in the hospital recently, I had a "no visitors" sign on my door. However, droves of people came to see me, saying "I knew this did not mean me." How can we convince our friends visits to very sick people don't do the patients any good? My friends, whom I love, tired me more than I can Louise Davis say. Could you point out that visits would be much more welcome after the ill one has gone?

Louise Davis Answers: You have answered the question yourself. When a hospital's object is administering to the sick, it seems strange that it sometimes defeats its own purpose by allowing visitors despite signs on the doors. Patients often are too ill to "chase out" visitors and it is indeed cruel and inconsiderate to subject them to such kind of "entertainment" when it is detrimental to the health. If possible it would be a good plan to have a member of the family in the sick room during visiting hours to keep out these well-meaning friends.

An Autumn-White Altar Setting For Shipley-Smyth Wedding Vows

White chrysanthemums on a candlelit altar were the early evening setting on Saturday in All Saints' Church, View Royal, for the wedding of Miss Marjorie Boyce Shipley and John Alfred Shipley.

Rev. S. J. Wickens heard the vows. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smyth, 481 Island Highway, and the groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Shipley, 2020 Foul Bay Road. Soloist, Miss Lois Burns sang "O Perfect Love."

For the ceremony the bride chose a gown of white French lace and crystal tulle over satin, fashioned with lily point sleeves and fitted lace bodice with seed pearls edging the neckline. Lace panels in front and one in back cascading from a bustle bow highlighted the full skirt. Her misting finger-tip veil was held to a pearl-studded crown. Her bridal bouquet was a cascade of pink roses and green ivy. She was given in marriage by her father.

Matron of honor, Mrs. K. Griffiths, wore a ballerina-length dress of turquoise and gold rayon brocade with a bodice drape of chiffon. Her headpiece and gloves were of matching brocade and she carried a gold chrysanthemum cascade bouquet. Bridesmaids, Miss Gladwyn Hodge and Miss Arlene Shipley wore pink dresses in the same style with matching accessories. Their cascade bouquets were of white and gold chrysanthemums.

The groom had Ian Lochhead as best man, while George William Shipley, brother of the groom, and Stanley Smyth, brother of the bride, ushered guests to pews marked with white chrysanthemums.

At the reception party held in Loughheed's Banquet Club, the newlyweds, assisted by their parents and bridal party, received their guests. Mrs. Shipley wore a two-piece dress of Dior blue shantung with navy accessories and a pink carnation corsage, while Mr. Shipley chose a pale blue French lace dress with navy accessories and corsage of pink carnations.

Pink and white carnations were placed on either side of the three-tier wedding cake. A small silver basket holding a white rose topped the cake. H. S. Keiser proposed the toast to the bride.

For her going-away outfit, the bride wore a pale rose-colored cashmere suit with navy accessories and a gardenia corsage.

Following their honeymoon motor trip through California, Mr. and Mrs. Shipley will make their home at 3241 Irma Street.

Khrushchev Ouster Seen in Offing

"IT WAS A MIRACLE AND GOD'S WILL, I'm sure," said Mrs. Maureen Patterson, Vancouver, wife of Alex Patterson, who was plucked from death Saturday night after being lost six days on Mount Seymour. The 24-year-old brunette is pictured at left, eyes

welled with tears, as she choked out words of gratitude to the mountaineers who rescued her husband. At right, unidentified rescuers are shown comforting the emaciated Patterson after his helicopter trip to Vancouver General Hospital.—(Vancouver Sun photos.)

Scout Training
Saved Scot;
Condition Good

VANCOUVER (CP)—The agony of the cold and wet, and the gnawing anxiety of waiting and hoping would have been all over for Alex Patterson Sunday morning. "I figured I could have held out only until Sunday morning—no longer," said the 24-year-old Scottish immigrant when rescued Saturday night by mountaineers from the 4,000-foot Mount Seymour after six days lost in the wilderness. He is now in Vancouver General Hospital suffering from general exposure, and "trench foot"—a result of wet and cold. "His feet are quite sore, but it would appear to me that they will be all right in time," a hospital official said. "His morale is high."

Patterson was virtually given up for dead. He had gone on a stroll the previous Sunday with two other Scots on the mountain, a favorite haunt of weekend motorists, hikers and skiers less than an hour's drive from downtown Vancouver and within sight of the city's lights. The trio became lost.

Polish Uprising Dims Prestige

WARSAW (AP)—The rise of Polish Communist leaders pledged to independence from Moscow has brought about a movement inside the Kremlin to remove Nikita Khrushchev from his top post in the Soviet party, Polish Communist sources reported today.

With tough, anti-Stalinist Wladyslaw Gomulka taking the reins in Poland, the Soviet party leaders have scented a defeat, and the "three Ms"—Molotov, Malenkov and Mikoyan—have formed an anti-Khrushchev alliance, these informants said.

Some repercussions inside the Kremlin seemed inevitable when the group behind 51-year-old Gomulka seized the reins of the Polish party and swept Stalinists from the policy-making posts. Gomulka, who became a national hero by defying Stalin, emerged on top after a shakeup of the Polish party's ruling politburo Sunday night.

Surrounding Gomulka in the streamlined nine-member ruling group were other men said to favor his demand for disentanglement from Soviet controls. All remained pledged to continued Communist government.

Among the Stalinists tossed out of the politburo was Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, the Polish-born Russian Army hero installed by Stalin as head of Poland's military forces in 1949 to hold the country in the Soviet orbit.

Before he officially took power, Gomulka issued a virtual declaration of independence from Moscow. In a fiery speech to the central committee, he denounced what he called misrule of the last 12 years.

Russians Seal Key Rail Junction

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union today was reported to have sealed the key railroad junction of Brest-Litovsk for foreigners for a five-day period beginning last Saturday.

Brest-Litovsk is inside Russia and on the main rail route from Moscow to Warsaw. It also is the main control point for road traffic between the Soviet Union and Poland.

Villagers on the Poznan-Warsaw route today reported seeing Soviet military convoys moving in the direction of the Polish capital.

The villagers said that army trucks carrying armed soldiers arrived irregularly in ones and twos at the village halfway between Poznan and Warsaw. The two cities are 190 miles apart.

BERLIN (AP)—Russia has pulled some of her motorized divisions out of Communist East Germany and sent them into restive Poland, a Western source said today.

The informant said the Soviet high command began sending the divisions across the East German frontier several days ago, after the crisis in Soviet-Polish relations exploded.

The redeployment could also be a precautionary step to protect Red army supply lines.

Russia has about 400,000 troops, including an estimated 22 divisions, stationed in East Germany and their main lines of communication run through Poland.

Clashes between Soviet troops and Polish forces reported Saturday night near Stettin may have involved Russians en route to Poland. The Russian troops involved were said to have been units of a regiment that was trying to cross the Oder River from East Germany.

Polish frontier guards opened fire when the Russian troops ignored an order to break off their crossing attempt.

U.S. Willing to Aid An Anti-Soviet Poland

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—A reappraisal of United States policy toward Communist Poland is in the making, and the chances appear good that Poland's new independent Red leadership can obtain American economic aid if it wishes—and if it survives.

State Secretary Dulles told a television audience Sunday night after conferring with President Eisenhower — that anything which weakens the "great structure" of Soviet Communist power "and leads to its breaking up" is in the interest of the U.S.

Dulles, under questioning by a panel of reporters, raised no objection to establishing friendly and co-operative relations with a Communist government independent of Moscow.

Canada-U.S. Fish Talks Under Way

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada and the United States today opened negotiations for an international convention to regulate and control the west coast's $15,000,000-a-year pink salmon fishery.

Fisheries Minister Sinclair and W. C. Herrington of the U.S. state department both said at the opening meeting that in view of past co-operation between their respective countries in fisheries matters the negotiations should be successful.

Mr. Sinclair said in Canada's opinion it is necessary to regulate off-shore fishing on such international fisheries as the pink salmon which use Canadian and U.S. territorial waters in moving through the Strait of Juan de Fuca and up British Columbia's Fraser River to spawn.

If there were no controls, unlimited fishing might wipe out the entire resource. In the past, U.S. fishermen have caught more than 70 per cent of the pink salmon in off-shore fishing, but in recent years Canadians have increased their activity, reducing U.S. catches to less than 60 per cent.

THE HAGEN STORY

Only Practice Makes Perfect

One of the most colorful figures in the world of golf was Walter Hagen. Now, with the aid of Margaret Boston Heck he has written his amazing life story. Because of world-wide popularity and the fact that he played in the city, the Times takes pleasure in presenting the Hagen biography.

Chapter Two

Golf champions are made, not born. I would be the first to admit that one must have a flair for the game, but only constant practice and concentration on every type of shot will produce the real champion.

By the time I was 15 I had played more golf and practiced more shots than most young golfers of 21 today. One reason, of course, is that today youngsters must be 14 years old before they can start carrying a bag.

I think I was lucky in being born where and when I was, and in being thrown into contact with golf at the Country Club of Rochester. The members of that club were of wealthy, conservative, socially established old families. Their interest in golf was a sporting one. They used the game entirely for recreation with small bets on the side to up the competition. They were just as interested in tennis, polo, ice skating, hunting and fishing. As a kid I, too, engaged in these sports and got to be pretty sharp in a few.

Competition was the factor which drew me. I had a sort of tireless energy, a compulsion to be doing something, to be on the move.—Not a

TIMES OPENS 'DEATHLESS DAYS' DRIVE

Motorists! Will You Be Here for Christmas?

Traffic control and enforcement agencies in the Greater Victoria area are shocked by the ever increasing number of automobile accidents, with their toll of dead and maimed.

There have been 15 persons killed in traffic crashes in the south island area since the first of January.

All agencies are impressing on the public the need for safe driving as the bad weather comes along.

Only through individual care by every driver can the toll be halted. Strict observance of traffic laws is a must.

To impress this on its readers The Times will carry on the front page daily the record of accidents in the four Greater Victoria municipalities.

And the target will be no more deaths to the end of the year. This is a period of "72 deathless days." Let's see if we can do it.

At the same time as the "deathless days" campaign, traffic officers of the four Greater Victoria police forces will emphasize the importance of safe driving habits by singling out a courteous driver each week for honors.

From now until March a courteous driver each week will be given two tickets to a Victoria Cougars' hockey game and a safe driving certificate signed by a police chief.

Deputy police chief Bert Pearson of Saanich said he hoped the "deathless days" campaign would make the public more conscious of the need for good driving habits so "they'll all be here to enjoy Christmas."

Saanich so far this year has recorded seven traffic fatalities, well ahead of last year.

Oak Bay and Esquimalt municipalities will both be striving to maintain their good records.

Esquimalt Chief Gilbert Stancombe said the last traffic fatality in the municipality occurred in 1952.

Oak Bay has a clean slate this year and Chief Robert M. Smith said today he hoped motorists will keep that record during the next 72 days.

PASS ME, WILL YOU?

TORONTO (UP)—An irate motorist slashed another on the arm with a knife Saturday when the latter honked his horn to warn he was passing.

Police charged Mel Russell Stanley, 27, with wounding.

Eisenhower Rips Into Bulganin For Meddling in U.S. Election

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia's Premier Bulganin almost certainly will fire a quick reply to a letter from President Eisenhower accusing him bluntly of meddling in the American political campaign.

But whether he does or not, Bulganin's letter seems sure to become a major political issue in the United States in the coming two weeks, with both Republicans and Democrats seeking to use it to their advantage in the debate over continuance of hydrogen bomb testing.

Officials who forecast that Bulganin will reply promptly said they expect him to deny any intention of interfering in the U.S. political campaign by his surprise message Friday renewing his appeal for an end to atomic and H-bomb tests.

EQUALITY IN PARKING FINES URGED BY CITY COUNCIL GROUP

City council public works committee today recommended a by-law be passed making the minimum fine for over-parking in a non-metered area $1.

Council has already shown agreement to the plan which will equalize fines for over-parking, at the discretion of the magistrate.

At present, fine for over-parking at a meter is $1 and for over-parking at an unmetered restricted space, $2.50.

Traffic Crashes Claim 7 Victims

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Seven persons died in traffic accidents in B.C. during the weekend as the province, in the midst of an intensive safety campaign, set a grim new all-time record for violent death on the road.

Six youths and one elderly man were among the victims. An eighth man was drowned early Saturday when he fell from the coastal steamer Princess Joan between Vancouver and Victoria. A ninth man died at Prince Rupert Saturday of injuries received in an accident at the Imperial Oil plant.

Killed in traffic were: M. J. Broughton, 86, of Vancouver; LAC Murray Allen Toole, 19, of Kingston, N.S. (see page 7); Bruce McNeil, 16, Port Moody; Bruce Taylor, 20, Port Moody; Robert Kissack, 19, Ashcroft; George Jmieff, 14, of Castlegar; and a four-year-old Richmond boy whose name is being withheld pending notification of next-of-kin.

The victim who fell from the Princess Joan and drowned in the icy strait waters has not yet been identified. But the seven who died on streets and highways boosted B.C.'s traffic toll for the year so far to 228.

The figure exceeds by three the toll for last year, when a record was set with 225 traffic fatalities for the full 12 months. The grim new mark was topped up by police and safety officials throughout the province were intensifying a drive to head it off and keep death from the roads of B.C. for the remainder of the year.

DIED INSTANTLY

McNeil and Taylor were killed instantly Saturday night when their car was in collision with another automobile in Port Moody.

The Jmieff youth died after being hit by a car while walking home from a wedding in Castlegar. Kissack was fatally injured at Ashcroft when his truck rolled over a 40-foot embankment.

Broughton, Vancouver's 32nd traffic victim of the year, was fatally injured Saturday afternoon when he was struck by a car as he stepped from a curb. Police said the aged and sightless man died in Vancouver General Hospital six hours after the accident without regaining consciousness.

The unidentified four-year-old from Richmond died in hospital Saturday night after being hit by a car while walking on Mitchell Island. At Prince Rupert Robert J. Bone, driver of a front-end loading machine was killed when the vehicle flipped over on top of him. He is survived by his wife and two foster children.

Gomulka was the Polish Communist party chief once before, in the original Communist government after the war. Then he was known as a friend of the Soviet Union. A member of the workers' movement since the age of 22, he had been in and out of jail for subversive activity in pre-war Poland, and twice had sought refuge in Russia.

But Gomulka refused to go as far as others in turning his native land into a Soviet colony. On Stalin's orders, he was jailed in 1951 on a charge of Titoism. After his release from prison in 1954 he became a symbol of so-called national Communism. The Polish Communists "rehabilitated" him earlier this year.

Gomulka's sweeping victory may herald fateful changes in other parts of the east European Soviet satellite bloc.

Some Polish Communists say they expect Hungary to take a similar course by returning to power former premier Imre Nagy, who was deposed in 1953 as a rightist. Only Sunday, thousands of Hungarian students issued threats to the authorities of street demonstrations unless their demands for more freedom and better living conditions are met within two weeks.

Youth Dies, Three Suffocate In Crowded Motel

CALGARY (CP)—One Calgary youth was found dead, believed a victim of asphyxiation, and three others seriously ill early Sunday in an overcrowded motel cabin.

The three were saved from almost certain death because the motel manager checked the cabin early to see if they had broken anything.

Dead is Elmer Hein, 22. In hospital are Henry Guenther, 19, Peter Wall, 22, and Isaac Guenther.

First Rocket Launching Successful

FORT CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—In a thunderous swoosh, like three or four jet planes flying at once, and two explosive bursts of flame, the first scientific rocket launched in Canada lifted itself more than 70 miles into the sub-Arctic sky Saturday.

The American-built 14-foot Cajun, first of eight rockets to be fired from a site 12 miles east of here, roared from an almost-vertical launching rail into the upper atmosphere and pressure. United States scientists working here said the firing was a success.

Two City Surgeons Earn Fellowships

Two medical specialists here will be presented as newly-admitted Fellows of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada in Toronto next Saturday.

The two local medical men, Drs. J. H. Dickinson and J. A. Hopkins, are Fellows in the college's division of surgery.

Fellowship in the college is the highest mark of competency in a special branch of medicine or surgery. It is awarded only after a searching series of examinations following at least five years of post-graduate training.

Saanich Girls To Be Charged As Incurables

Two young girls, apprehended in California while travelling in a stolen car with three older youths, will appear in Saanich juvenile court Wednesday charged with being incorrigibles.

They were flown back here from Bishop, Calif., over the weekend. One is 16, the other 17.

The three youths picked up with them, including a 19-year-old Victorian wanted by both Saanich and city police and a Gordon Head army deserter, were all sentenced last week in Ell, Nev., to a prison term of from one to 15 years for burglary.

Male Tutor For Prince

LONDON (AP)—Miss Helen Lightbody has resigned her job as nurse to the two children of Queen Elizabeth, friends said Sunday night. After eight years of service, she will leave Buckingham Palace at the end of the month. The Duke of Edinburgh is said to believe that his son, Prince Charles, is old enough now to have a male tutor.

RESCUE

Patterson, an accountant with the Vancouver School Board, who came to B.C. three years ago from Hawick, Scotland, revealed details of his ordeal here over the weekend after being brought from the mountain to Vancouver General Hospital by a helicopter.

"I drank water and walked around, drank water and walked around," he said.

"I took my shoes and socks off and tried to keep my feet warm with my body," he said. However, whenever he went for a drink of water, which he did to ease hunger pangs, he got his feet wet again.

TIME WENT QUICKLY

He had no matches with which to light a fire. Except for his feet, however, he was able to keep dry.

"Amazingly, the time went quickly," he recalled. "I'd sleep a few hours then get up and walk to keep warm."

He said he occasionally saw automobiles on the mountain road far below. Then he yelled for help every five minutes during his waking hours.

The six-foot Scotsman, who weighs only 120 pounds, said he felt his strength was waning Saturday and Sunday would be the end.

And then he saw the searchers, men from Vancouver alpine and mountaineering clubs.

They fed him chocolates, light soup and sweet tea and coffee and wrapped him in warm blankets. A helicopter dropped a stretcher and the alpine party cut a path to a ledge from which the helicopter lifted him at nightfall Saturday.

During his vigil Patterson said he had dreamed of glasses of milk and when he was brought to hospital, his first request was for a glass of milk.

SCOUT TRAINING

He said his decision to stay up the mountain until rescued, the result of Boy Scout training in Scotland, saved his life.

During his long vigil he had also "prayed a little."

Maureen, his 24-year-old brunette wife, described the week as "the longest of my life."

"I had just about given up hope," she said. "I really didn't think they would find him alive. It was a miracle and God's will I'm sure."

Mrs. Patterson, after visiting her gaunt and pale husband, said:

"All I can say is thank you to the mountaineers. I heard of my husband's rescue from my minister—Rev. D. Davidson—about noon."

The six-day search cost an estimated $13,000. Searchmaster Bill Angus said today the estimate does not include volunteer labor and is "conservative."

"The cost in hard cash I have estimated at $6,800," said Mr. Angus.

CONCERT REPEATED TONIGHT AT ROYAL

Nelsova's Technical Virtuosity Breath-Taking, Her Tone Vibrant

By AUDREY S.T.D. JOHNSON Times Music Critic

Two events of major importance mark this season's second pair of concerts by the Victoria Symphony Orchestra: a first performance of a composition by a leading Canadian composer, the composer himself being present, and the appearance, as guest artist, of one of the world's most truly distinguished musicians, cellist Zara Nelsova.

The performance Sunday afternoon of Vancouver composer Robert Turner's Canzona for orchestra, created an arresting and vital opening to the concert. The work represents a union of an ancient, 16th century, form with the harmonic idiom of today.

VIGOROUS There is a pleasing arrangement or orchestral voices in the quiet opening passages, and a vigorous and colorful development in the central sections. Thematic material is interesting and plentiful and the contrapuntal treatment scholarly.

Hans Gruber handled the score imaginatively and with a bold incisiveness and if his musicians were not consistently successful, in general they dealt justly with this premiere performance.

However, if for one reason alone, this concert is not to be missed by any genuine music lover. And that reason is Nel-sova. It is not too much to say that no musical experience is complete without having heard this supreme cellist whose name, along with Casals and Piatigorsky, has already become a musical tradition.

SHEER ECSTASY

Her performance in the infinitely lovely and stirring Dvorak B Minor Concerto is one of those high moments of sheer ecstasy in listening which may occur once or twice—or not at all—in a season's concert going.

The quality of her tone is uniformly vibrant and rich, her technical virtuosity, breath-taking. In absolute mastery of her instrument she has been declared the equal of any of her male counterparts.

But one must also add that Nelsova combines two kinds of artistry in a rarely perfect blend. She is the intellectual mistress of her music, entering into it with her mind, so that there is a pure inescapable logic about all she does.

And this is balanced by a kind of intuitive poetry that allows certain lovely phrases to sing themselves simply without undue manipulation, while skillfully evoking from others some unsuspected delight.

As an encore she played, unaccompanied, Prokofiev's quaint "March for Children."

Haydn's 93rd Symphony in D major was the orchestra's principal offering. Gruber's impeccable taste in the interpretation of such music was happily demonstrated in this crisp performance in which the orchestra was so thoroughly at home.

The concert will be repeated tonight at the Royal Theatre at 8.30.

Can Thwart Riders Tonight; Alouettes Rewrite Record Book

By the Canadian Press

Calgary's playoff hopes in the Western Interprovincial Football Union were snuffed out long ago, but they aren't playing pat to anybody. The Stampede proved it Saturday night when they put a crimp to any plans Winnipeg Blue Bombers had of a better-than-third-place finish.

If the new-found inspiration under quarter Ronnie Knox can keep Stampede on their feet tonight, the last-place Cowboys might be able to deliver a knockout punch that will doom Saskatchewan Roughriders to second place for a third straight year.

Calgary rose up behind their former UCLA quarterback, obtained in mid-season after he quit Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four to swat Bombers 25-17 on a Knox pass, Knox lateral and two pass interceptions before 15,922 at Winnipeg.

That, coupled with Riders 25-22 victory over British Columbia Lions before 18,239 fans in the last game of the season at Vancouver, left Bombers in third place, two points behind Riders and with just one game left.

against Edmonton Eskimos next Saturday at Winnipeg.

And as far as the Big Four is concerned, if Montreal Alouettes don't make their third straight trip to the Grey Cup final this year someone is likely to demand that they take the salvia test.

The thundering Als turned the McGill Stadium gridiron into a track and field strip Saturday as they ran over Hamilton Tiger-Cats to a record-breaking 82-14 victory. No one is quite sure yet of the damage they did to the Big Four record book.

An unofficial count showed at least 23 records of one kind or another broken. On top of all this the Als clinched first place and a bye into the playoffs and stretched their unbeaten streak at home to 21 games.

Mathematics Argos' Lone Hope

Tiger-Cats had already made sure of a playoff spot but they can't be certain of a second-place finish. Ottawa Rough Riders looked after this by defeating Toronto Argonauts 37-26 at Ottawa, leaving Argos only a slim mathematical play-off threat.

The Als lead with 20 points. Tiger-Cats have 12, Ottawa 10 and Toronto six. Only two more games remain.

In the senior Ontario Rugby Football Union, London Lords were crushed 23-14 by Toronto Balm Beach and Sarnia Golden Bears won 28-20 over Kitchener Waterloo Dutchmen. Dutchmen remain in first place, two points ahead of Toronto.

Riders' victory, behind the passing of quarterback Frank Tripucka, pulled them within two points of the league-leading Eskimos and both clubs now have two games remaining.

Saskatchewan meets Stampede twice, at Calgary tonight and at Regina next Saturday, while Eskimos meet B.C. at Edmonton tonight before tackling Bombers in their final scheduled contest.

A Rider loss and Eskimo win tonight would give Edmonton first place for a third successive year; the reverse would put Saskatchewan and Edmonton in a first-place tie, while Eskimo and Rider victories would leave the final say to the last games next weekend. In event of a tie at the end, Eskimos points-for-and-against average likely would give them the play-off bye into the finals.

Dean Renfro, a late-season acquisition from Baltimore Colts, paced the scoring of Stampede, who have looked stronger every time out since Knox arrived. Renfro took a 21-yard pass from Knox for one touchdown and grabbed a lateral from the quarterback and streaked 52 yards on a play that went 61 in all for another.

Bob McNamara, among the leaders in the WIFU individual ground gaining race, picked up two Bomber touchdowns, plunging over from the two after end Norm Rauhaus had intercepted a Knox pass, and driving through from the five after leading a long ground attack for another.

At Vancouver, Tripucka threw three touchdown passes to beat the hard-trying Lions, who end their season tonight at Edmonton.

Putts Drop; Gorge Aces Keep Pins

Joe Pryke, partnering John Merriman in the Victoria open button golf match at Royal Colwood Golf Club Sunday, rammed down a 15-foot putt on the 18th green to give the Gorge Vale duo a 1-up victory over Bob Morrison and Frank Scroggs of Uplands.

Great putting was a feature of the match, in which Pryke and Merriman, defending the buttons for the first time, got away to a great start and were four under par as they took a 3-up lead after seven holes.

Scroggs helped keep the margin down as he dropped a 15-foot birdie putt for a half on the fourth hole and won the fifth when his 30-footer dropped for a birdie.

Pryke rapped in a 12-foot birdie putt on the sixth and stroked a 30-footer into the cup for a birdie on the seventh.

Only one up at the turn after bogies on the eighth and ninth, Merriman and Pryke went two holes ahead as Merriman won the 13th.

Morrison trimmed the margin with a birdie at the 14th and squared the match at the 17th hole with a great 35-foot birdie putt, only to see Pryke win it with a par on the final green.

Pryke and Merriman had a best ball of 69, while the challengers posted a best ball score of 70.

Magic Forest Wins

NEW YORK (CP)—Magic Forest, with only one previous victory in 13 starts, won the $136,275 Gardenia Stakes at Garden State Park Saturday after the first horse across the finish line, the favored Romanita, was disqualified and placed third behind Light 'N' Lovely.

The stewards announced that Eric Guerin, aboard Romanita, interfered with Magic Forest at the head of the stretch in the race for two-year-old fillies.

U.S. Track Stars Crack Four Marks

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP)—United States track and field members Saturday cracked four world records in the first of a series of warm-up meets before the Olympics in Australia next month.

The U.S. one-mile relay team, No. 1 ran the event in 3:08.5 to better the world mark by 2-10ths of a second, and the U.S. No. 2 team equalled the world mark.

Leamon King, University of California sprint specialist, defeated Bobby Morrow of Abilene Christian in a world-record 10.1 seconds for the 100 metres.

Parry O'Brien, former University of Southern California shot putter, again shattered his world record with a heave of 61 feet, 4 1/2 inches.

Harold Connolly of Boston College also improved on a world mark, throwing the hammer 213 feet, 8 inches. He has one better distance this year of 218 feet.

Gregory Bell won the broad jump at 26 feet, 6 1/2 inches, just two inches short of the world record.

Knee Injury Could Finish Ratterman's Grid Career

WASHINGTON (AP)—Probably will be lost at least for the remainder of the season because of a wrenched knee suffered during the first quarter of Sunday's game with Washington Redskins, the injury which coach Paul Brown said may end his playing career.

A physician agreed that Ratterman, who played for Montreal Alouettes in 1951, in three games this season before he took over from Ratterman Sunday.

The doctors tell me it's probably the end of a football career, said George Ratterman. "Brown said after the game, 'It's the knee cartilage and he's out indefinitely. I'd say for good.'

"No," Brown told questioners, "I don't have an extra quarterback hiding around Cleveland. Parilli is my only boy. I'll just have to pick one up . . . somewhere."

Olympic Hoopsters Defeat Athletics

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Canadian Olympic basketball squad showed top form here Friday night by beating Alberni Athletics 97-66 in an exhibition game.

It was the third win for the Olympic hopefuls over the Athletics. In each game, they scored at least 95 points.

John McLeod scored 21 points for the winners and Ed Lucht had 17. Brown of Athletics topped all scorers with 22 points.

Alberni — Spidal (7), Brown (23), Kago (13), Williamson (6), Watts (5), Olympic — McLeod (21), Lucht (17), Brinham (6), McIntosh (4), Bissett, Burwell (3), Stiles (3), Osborne (2), Brown (2), Wilde (0), Stewart (0).

PARIS (AP)—France defeated the Russian national soccer team 2-1 Sunday in a spectacular game at Colombes Stadium. Halftime score was 0-0.

Also: Hall Caste, Performance, Master Pina, I learned how to weight the wood heads. I learned to plane the shafts from hickory, scrape them down, polish them to a fine sheen and attach them to the heads. I could wind a grip with the skill of the old-time club makers.

I finally assembled a fairly good-looking set for myself. Although golf writers have often referred to that first set of mine as a "collection of odds and ends," I carried them through 1920.

With these so-called "strange weapons" I won two American Opens, the Panama Exposition Open, the French Open—and finished 53rd in the British Open!

That first set included an old-fashioned spliced driver (known as Ted Ray's Own), steel-faced with a bolt that went right through the face of the club; a brassie of about the same vintage; a spoon, a driving iron, equivalent to a number one-iron; a midiron; a mashie iron, a deep-faced club which I made to fit in between the midiron and the mashie; a mashie; a mashie niblick; a niblick and a putter of the old gooseneck type.

FAVORITE MASHIE
In 1940 the United States Golfing Association asked for one of those clubs in my original set to put in their Hall of Fame. I had them all, except my favorite, the mashie iron. I was in Detroit in July that year for the Red Cross Ryder Cup matches at Oakland Hills Golf Club, where I had once been pro. Sitting around the locker room between matches I mentioned to Midge Murray, my long-time friend and former assistant, that I was unable to locate the mashie iron.

Midge grinned at me. "I've got that club, Walter. I'll bring it to you tomorrow."

Sure enough he turned up with it and carried it all over the course until he found me and presented it to me. I took a couple of swings with it, and it was like meeting a treasured old number. "I was starting—the last nine at Brae Burn in 1919," I explained to Midge, "and I was told I needed a 34 to win the Open or a 35 to tie for the title with Mike Brady. When I reached the eighteenth tee I tried for an extra long drive so I could play my favorite mashie iron to the green. This mashie iron did not let me down for I got a beautiful shot only 15 feet from the hole."

That club is now in the Golf House in New York, beside Bobby Jones' famous putter, Calamity Jane.

TUESDAY—Hagen tells about his first "tournament" and relates an amusing story about liquid refreshments.

Working with Andrew Christy in the pro shop from the winter I was 14 through the next five years gave me invaluable knowledge about clubs, their design and construction. The iron heads were mostly shipped over from England and Scotland, but the woods we made right from the block.

nervous energy, but an inspired physical reaction which gave me so much confidence in my own ability that I was always thoroughly relaxed in any game. I played to win, whether it was pool, marbles, baseball, shooting or golf. I liked the feel of a golf club in my hand and I was forever swinging a club.

When I was 14 I thought I was capable of taking on anybody within five years of my age. Of course, I'd never been out of Rochester, but I knew I could beat anybody I'd met so far.

Grid Streaks Fall

NEW YORK (AP)—The fond hopes that Texas Christian and Ohio State had been nurturing for undefeated seasons were snapped abruptly Saturday by Texas A and M and Penn State respectively.

But there was no stopping the leading three teams in the United States. Oklahoma, Michigan State and Georgia Tech all triumphed without incident.

Texas Christian, No. 4 in this week's Associated Press poll, was the favorite until Saturday's 7-6 loss to the Aggies.

Now the Aggies, with one tie and four victories, moves into the favorite's spot.

Ohio State lost to Penn State 7-6. Oklahoma whipped Kansas 34-12. It was their 34th straight victory.

Otherwise, the top teams came through as expected. Tennessee swept past Alabama, 24-0, while Michigan, hoping for the big 10 title, beat Northwestern, 34-20.

Syracuse and Pitt, the two best in the east, both won. The Orange toppled Army 7-0; while Pitt turned back Duke 27-14.

UCLA, whopped its northern cousin, California, 34-20, in a big Pacific Coast Conference game.

Somass Fish Doom Seen by Anglers

Power Commission Dam Proposals Protested By Alberni Outdoorsmen

Special to The Times

PORT ALBERNI—Annihilation of fishing in Somass River and Alberni Inlet is forecast by fish and game officials here if the B.C. Power Commission installs its proposed dams at Sproat and Great Central Lakes.

Alberni Fish and Game Club president Sid Richards said the MacMillan and Bloedel dam at Sproat Lake had the blessing of the fish and game people, but "hydro dams are another thing entirely. They are definitely detrimental to all fish life."

"Biologists all over America have been trying for years to find a way in which fish can pass dams on their way upstream and again on their way down. They have never been able to solve this problem," he said.

Mr. Richards said fishing would die out within 10 years if the hydro dams were constructed.

Clyde Macfarlane, well-known outdoor man in the Albernis, said bluntly: "I just can't see it. First the loggers came and ruined some of the best steelhead fishing in the valley by taking all the trees along creek banks. Now come the hydro people to try and take what recreation resources we have left. True, these people may give us wonderful parks, but that doesn't keep the fish alive."

Mr. Macfarlane said he felt that with atomic hydro-electric power so close to realization, the price sportsmen and fishermen are being asked to pay is too great.

Third member of the fish and game club to comment, Ken Wickwire claimed that $400,000,000 had been spent in the U.S. to try to solve the fishing problem on the Columbia River. "But no solution has been found."

GRACIOUS AGE, VIVACIOUS YOUTH CATCH CAMERA'S ROVING EYE

By DINAH KERR

The beauties of age as well as youth sparkled through the lens of a Times' photographer's camera today as shown in pictures above.

At left, Miss Canada, Dorothy Moreau, 25, winks roguishly into the mirror of a piece of luggage she's demonstrating in a local department store.

At right, the Ciechanowskis, Juliana, 77, and August, 81, celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary amid bouquets of flowers from well-wishers.

August proffered a rose to his wife. "Here," he said. "Gat you good smell."

A titian-haired beauty, Miss Moreau bested 25 other finalists in the Miss Canada contest this year to prove to her nine brothers "I could do something they couldn't do." She is touring Canada on her 38th major trip since being named Miss Canada six months ago.

The Ciechanowskis have come a long way, too. Since their wedding day in Alexandrov, Russia (now part of Poland), they've travelled from country to country through two revolutions and a depression.

"We have hard time," said August. "Bin kommen through revolution in Russia, then live in Germany 24 years, then ist kommen revolution, so bin kommen Canada in depression time."

"Ich bin have an illness in my knees, so cannot work," Mr. Ciechanowski explained. "My wife work in garden and raise potatoes."

"I like it doing," said Mrs. Ciechanowski.

"Sure," said her husband. "Illness cannot bring us down. The hard times every time bring a little bit down, but odder times we kommen high again."

On the living room wall was a large "No Smoking" sign. Mr. Ciechanowski smiled. "We no like it," he said. "I am very strong smoking once and doctor told me if I not stop, I die."

"From this time I am not liking it."

BETWEEN TIMES By MONTE ROBERTS

For the past three weeks or so, a clipping has occupied a spot on the end table beside my chair at the house we live in.

(By clipping, I mean cutting, if you are recently here from over 'ome.)

Why I clipped it in the first place, I do not know. But it has developed an almost fatal fascination for me.

The clipping (or cutting) is from a magazine devoted to outdoor recreation, such as killing fish, animals, and birds.

It is from the classified section, in the small type at the back of the book, and, despite its insignificant size, the contents are engraved on the retina of my memory in letters of fire:

"FISHWORM culture. . . This booklet 'Raising Worms For Pleasure Or Profit' tells how to fix beds indoors, outdoors; small or commercial scale, what, when, how to feed; how to keep worms from crawling out; how and where to sell worms. $1.00 postpaid. Write for worm prices."

Perhaps you can figure out why this clipping (or cutting) is on the table beside my chair.

If you can, you know more about me than I do.

As far as I know, I have no wish to become acquainted with fishworms, even the cultured type.

Offhand, I can't see much pleasure in raising worms. As for fixing beds indoors, I have been doing this for years, but fail to see why I should do so for the benefit of a fishworm. (Even a cultured one, as noted above.)

Why I should keep at my right hand an advertisement hinting that I, too, can learn when and how to feed a fishworm is something far beyond my wildest imagination.

And as for knowledge of keeping worms from crawling, who am I to tell a worm when not to crawl? Worms have been crawling even longer than I have been tottering about on my decrepit legs, and that is a long time, indeed.

The only possible solution which occurs to me is, my innate cupidity may have acted, and compelled me to keep this clipping (or cutting) in case I ever acquired a worm, accidentally, and wished to sell it and retire to a life of ease on the proceeds.

But basically, I am stumped by the continued existence of this fishworm item on the table beside my chair.

I will be happy to entertain any solutions advanced by the constituents.

And if that doesn't leave me wide open, nothing ever will.

EXPERTS SAY:

TV Reception From Seattle To Stay Strong

Fears expressed in some quarters that Victoria area television viewers are in danger of losing their good reception from popular Seattle Channels 4 and 5 were dispelled by a survey today.

Technicians interviewed admitted that signals emanating from Washington were weaker than they had been a year ago. But they were quick to explain these were caused by climatic conditions as well as the current sun spot cycle, were of a temporary nature and eventually would pass.

Eighty per cent of viewers contacted in all parts of the city were happy about their reception. Those who were not admitted they lived in "weak areas," that their signals were never strong in the first instance. There were others in the same areas who put their poor reception down to sets that were, in their own words, "antiquated."

An informal Times poll showed many viewers enjoying a reception that was "better than ever."

Sid Spencer, president of the Victoria chapter of Radio Electronics Technicians' Association, said that RETA members had been aware of the falling off of Channel 4 and 5's signal strength for the past year.

"But this doesn't mean that the signals won't return to their former strength," he said. "Most people here know that we are in a fringe area and that anything untoward in climatic conditions is bound to affect us more than if we were closer to the source of the signals. The worst that can happen is disruption from time to time in our reception from the Seattle stations owing to the prevalent instability of atmospheric conditions."

He believes, too, that the Conservative representation in the House of Commons, now 53 seats, will be substantially increased at the next federal election—particularly the representation from the Maritimes and Ontario.

On a campaign tour of the western provinces, Mr. Bell addressed an open political meeting, the first of a series, at Victoria College at noon today. Earlier, as a merchant navy veteran, he visited Esquimalt installations.

He is accompanied by Gordon Sedgewick, permanent secretary of the Young Conservative Association.

On Sunday he met a group of Young Conservatives from Vancouver and Victoria at the home of Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, MP for Esquimalt-Saanich.

"At the moment we are out to interest Young Conservatives in the choosing of a new party leader at the Conservative conference in Ottawa on Dec. 12. This is very important since Young Conservatives will have a quarter of the total vote at the conference," Mr. Bell said.

While admitting that Seattle signals were weaker, Mr. Mielen thought this was more than offset by the superior TV sets manufactured during the past two years.

Another report that Seattle stations were likely to be converted into ultra high frequency stations and thus lost to Victorians, was termed premature by John J. Shawcroft, of KING-TV, Seattle.

"There is talk of it," he said, "but even if it should come about it is still many years away."

ELECTRIC STORM OCTOBER RARITY

Brilliant sunshine Sunday, with temperatures in the neighborhood of 54 degrees, came to Victoria in the wake of an electrical storm Saturday night that continued for about an hour.

The storm was only the ninth thunder and lightning storm to hit the city in October during 58 years of weather recording.

The storm struck in the late evening, and during one five-minute period dropped a total of 0.1 inch of rain on the city.

"That's a heavy rain, but no record," said acting city weatherman Frank Williams.

"Rains of up to 0.2 inch have been recorded in five minutes here."

Young Tory President Visits City

Tom Bell, 33-year-old president of the Young Progressive Conservative Association of Canada and member of the House of Commons for Saint John-Albert, is impressed by the "high calibre" of young business and professional men now joining the organization in B.C.

"The emphasis at the moment is on quality rather than quantity, but there is a definite resurgence of interest in the Conservative party out here," Mr. Bell said in an interview here today.

He believes, too, that the Conservative representation in the House of Commons, now 53 seats, will be substantially increased at the next federal election—particularly the representation from the Maritimes and Ontario.

Fatal Crash Victim Felt 'All Right'

Edgelow Wants Traffic Head At Meetings

Victoria alderman Geoffrey Edgelow's battle against a proposed city one-way street plan was carried to a council public works meeting today.

He told the committee he will not attend a future meeting of traffic advisory committee unless Police Sergeant Brooke Douglass is present and heard by the group.

Sgt. Douglass, city police traffic department head, recently proposed a multiple-light plan to solve traffic bottlenecks at the Hillside-Douglas fountain circle.

The Douglass plan is supported by Ald. Edgelow because the alternative, suggested by U.S. traffic expert Jackson D. Faustman, depends on a one-way street system on Government and Douglas between Hillside and Herald.

Ald. Edgelow spoke against the plan at last council meeting when a group of Douglas Street businessmen said their business would be adversely affected by one-way streets.

Ald. Edgelow agreed the Faustman report should be studied by the public works committee, the traffic group and the police commission in a joint meeting. He rebelled when it was indicated only the police chief or the deputy would represent the police department.

"I won't come if Sgt. Douglass is not there. I think there is something funny going on if you do not want him there," said Ald. Edgelow.

"I think that is pretty small," replied Ald. Arthur Dowell.

The committee finally decided to postpone the traffic meeting until after the second part of the Faustman report is obtained by the city. It deals with off-street parking. Mr. Faustman promised the report for late November.

Magician Big Hit At Dart Coon Club Anniversary Fete

A young Chinese magician amazed a large crowd with his tricks and acrobatics staged in Chinatown's Fisgard Street Sunday.

The occasion was the 41st anniversary of the Chinese Dart Coon Club, which was celebrated by fireworks, a lion's dance, a banquet and concert.

The magician, standing in front of the club and without benefit of lighting, licked red hot pokers, danced and summersaulted on broken glass, and produced bananas from an empty basket.

Hundreds of people jammed the street to see his magic which was followed by the Chinese Free Mason's Athletic Guild under the direction of Tommy Tong and Jack Tang.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—On Oct. 10 I mailed a money order to pay Samich taxes due on that date. I received the receipt with a note of balance due—2 per cent added because the money order was received on Oct. 11. Is this the correct procedure? Mrs. D. L. M.

A.—Yes, it is according to the law, which is that the sum ought to have been in the municipal hall before or on the due date. If you had mailed your money order a day or two sooner there would have been no penalty.

Sewing Materials Filed In Small Chest of Drawers

By PENNY SAVER

Sewing tables and counters can become so cluttered that it's almost impossible to find needles, thread and buttons in the heads of cloth and shreds. An idea has been borrowed from the kitchen spice shelves, and here is a small wall chest of drawers especially for your sewing room. Hang it on the wall or place it on the table, and all the little, often mislaid items will be at your fingertips. There are two styles. One is a single line of six drawers, and the other, a doubled-up chest of six drawers. Made of a polished, lightweight wood, each drawer is marked to keep contents separate. "Needles, pins, snaps, buttons, thread," are marked on the drawer fronts, and there is one drawer marked "utility."

There are two prices: $2.79 and $2.49. They would certainly be handy gifts. If you're starting to tuck away Christmas gifts to avoid the mad rush, this is a good starter.

Cold weather hats that can be worn five or six ways are available in a wide range of colors or mixed colors. They can be made into snug ski hats or neatly changed around to wear with any coat or outfit. Double sectioned, these hats have two sets or buckle-hooks to keep them on.

Supper Dance

The Saturday evening supper dance at the Empress Hotel is a favorite spot for many Victorians and visitors. This Saturday, among the many guests were Mr. George Sinclair and Miss Shirley Cornelius, celebrating their engagement. Robertson, Mr. J. A. Craig and Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Smith. In a party with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Edwards were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Norris, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Gordon and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gray.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Sinnott attended the supper dance with Mr. and Mrs. Leslie MacDonnell, to celebrate Mr. Sinnott's birthday.

In another party were Mr. and Mrs. J. Alexis, Mr. and Mrs. George Ganner, Mr. Bill Scott and Miss Eva Fontana.

A table for four was shared by Mr. and Mrs. J. Alan Baker and Mr. and Mrs. Allan Leith.

To mark the return of Miss Carolyn Pauline from a summer trip to Europe, Miss Catherine Gillespie entertained at her home, Saturday evening, the party consisting of Lieut. Hamish Bridgman, Mr. John Graeme, Lieut. and Mrs. D. Moilliet and Mr. and Mrs. A. Moilliet. The party also attended the supper dance at the Empress Hotel.

About Hospital Visitors: When I was in the hospital recently, I had a "no visitors" sign on my door. However, droves of people came to see me, saying "I knew this did not mean me." How can we convince our friends visits to very sick people don't do the patients any good? My friends, whom I love, tired me more than I can say. Could you point out that visits would be much more welcome after the ill one has gone?

Louise Davis Answers: You have answered the question yourself. When a hospital's object is administering to the sick, it seems strange that it sometimes defeats its own purpose by allowing visitors despite signs on the doors. Patients often are too ill to "chase out" visitors and it is indeed cruel and inconsiderate to subject them to such kind of "entertainment" when it is detrimental to the health. If possible, it would be a good plan to have a member of the family in the sick room during visiting hours to keep out these well-meaning friends.

Polish-Type Upheaval Seen in Hungary

VIENNA (UP)—The Hungarian radio today broadcast a student demand for the re-appointment of "Tito" Imre Nagy as premier.
Iron Curtain experts here predicted an early Polish-type government upheaval in Hungary.
The students' agitation in Budapest has been building to the point where they have threatened street demonstrations to back their demands for fewer restrictions and a freer hand for university authorities in educational fields.

U.K. Petition Asks End to Hanging

LONDON (CP)—A petition bearing the names of 2,500 Britons, many of them prominent, was presented to Prime Minister Eden today calling on the government to abolish capital punishment.

Hammond Mill Sold for $75 Million

EUREKA, Calif. (AP)—The Georgia-Pacific Corp. completed purchase today of the Hammond Lumber Co. for approximately $75,000,000 in one of the biggest lumber deals on the Pacific Coast.
The acquiring of the Hammond operations increase Georgia-Pacific's outright timber ownership to more than 12,000,000,000 board feet, mostly old growth in California and Oregon.

Probe Starts on Downed Planes

EDMONTON (CP)—An investigation was started today by the transport department into the circumstances surrounding the flight of four persons who were missing for nearly three weeks in the Northwest Territories.
One purpose of the enquiry, department officials said, is to learn why the two light planes involved were down in an area far from their planned flight path.
The craft—piloted by Dick Warner, 26, of Aklavik, N.W.T., and Edmonton, and Argentine George Gonzales, 26, and with Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Hunter, fisheries department researchers, as passengers—went missing during a planned 318-mile flight from Coppermine to Norman Wells.

PGE Service Back to Normal

VANCOUVER (CP)—Traffic was "back to normal" today on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.
Several slides which cut the line over the rain-sodden Friday were cleaned up.
More than 200 PGE passengers had to be ferried from Squamish to Horseshoe Bay because of the slides and an undermined bridge, all of which have been cleaned up, a company official said.

'I Was Nearly Done'

Scout Training Saved Scot; Condition Good

VANCOUVER (CP)—The agony of the cold and wet, and the gnawing anxiety of waiting and hoping would have been all over for Alex Patterson Sunday morning.
"I figured I could have held out only until Sunday morning—no longer," said the 24-year-old Scottish immigrant when rescued Saturday night by mountaineers from the 4,000-foot Mount Seymour after six days lost in the wilderness.
He is now in Vancouver General Hospital suffering from general exposure, and "trench foot"—a result of wet and cold.
"His feet are quite sore, but it would appear to me that they will be all right in time," a hospital official said. "His morale is high."

"IT WAS A MIRACLE AND GOD'S WILL, I'M SURE," said Mrs. Maureen Patterson, Vancouver, wife of Alex Patterson who was plucked from death Saturday night after being lost on Mount Seymour six days. The 24-year-old woman is pictured, eyes welled with tears, as she choked out words of gratitude to the mountaineers who rescued her husband. — (Vancouver Sun photo.)

Appeal to Government Planned By Council

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver's Sunday sport by-law today was ruled illegal by Mr. Justice A. E. Lord in B.C. Supreme Court.
At the same time city council, sitting as legislative committee, as the ruling was handed down, decided to ask the government to enact legislation legalizing commercialized Sunday sport in the city.
"If the legislature intended that a municipality was to have the power to enact legislation which would relax or be repugnant to existing law, then the legislature would have to express such intention in most explicit terms," Mr. Justice Lord said.
It is "beyond doubt that even if the legislature could delegate to the city the authority to en-

Kremlin Move To Oust Nikita From Top Post?

WARSAW (AP)—The rise of Polish Communist leaders pledged to independence from Moscow has brought about a movement inside the Kremlin to remove Nikita Khrushchev from his top post in the Soviet party, Polish Communist sources reported today.
With tough, anti-Stalinist Wladyslaw Gomulka taking the reins in Poland, the Soviet party leaders have sensed a defeat, and the "three Ms"—Molotov, Malenkov and Mikoyan—have formed an anti-Khrushchev alliance, these informants said.
Some repercussions inside the Kremlin seemed inevitable when the group behind 51-year-old Gomulka seized the reins of the Polish party and swept Stalinists from the policy-making posts. Gomulka, who became a national hero by defying Stalin, emerged on top after a shakeup of the Polish party's ruling politburo Sunday night.
Surrounding Gomulka in the streamlined nine-member ruling group were other men said to favor his demand for disentanglement from Soviet controls. All remained pledged to continued Communist government.
Among the Stalinists tossed out of the politburo was Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, the Polish-born Russian Army hero installed by Stalin as head of Poland's military forces in 1949 to hold the country in the Soviet orbit.
Before he officially took power, Gomulka issued a virtual declaration of independence from Moscow. In a fiery speech to the central committee, he denounced what he called misuse of the last 12 years.
"There is more than one road to socialism," he said.

TIMES OPENS 'DEATHLESS DAYS' DRIVE

Motorists! Will You Be Here for Christmas?

Traffic control and enforcement agencies in the Greater Victoria area are shocked by the ever increasing number of automobile accidents, with their toll of dead and maimed.

There have been 15 persons killed in traffic crashes in the south island area since the first of January.

All agencies are impressing on the public the need for safe driving as the bad weather comes along.
Only through individual care by every driver can the toll be halted. Strict observance of traffic laws is a must.
To impress this on its readers the Times will carry on the front page daily the record of accidents in the four Greater Victoria municipalities.

And the target will be no more deaths to the end of the year. This is a period of "72 deathless days." Let's see if we can do it.
At the same time as the "deathless days" campaign, traffic officers of the four Greater Victoria police forces will emphasize the importance of safe driving habits by singling out a courteous driver each week for honors.
From now until March a courteous driver each week will be given two tickets to a Victoria Cougars hockey game and a safe driving certificate signed by a police chief.
Deputy police chief Bert Pearson of Saanich said he hoped the "deathless days" campaign would make the public more conscious of the need for good driving habits so "they'll all be here to enjoy Christmas."

THE HAGEN STORY

Only Practice Makes Perfect

One of the most colorful figures in the world of golf was Walter Hagen. Now, with the aid of Margaret Beaton Hagen he has written his amazing life story. Because of world-wide popularity and the fact that he played in the city, the Times takes pleasure in presenting the Hagen biography.

Chapter Two
Golf champions are made, not born. I would be the first to admit that one must have a flair for the game, but only constant practice and concentration on every type of shot will produce the real champion.

By the time I was 15 I had played more golf and practiced more shots than most young golfers of 21 today. One reason, of course, is that today youngsters must be 14 years old before they can start carrying a bag.
I think I was lucky in being born where and when I was, and in being thrown into contact with golf at the Country Club of Rochester. The members of that club were of wealthy, conservative, socially established old families.
Their interest in golf was a sporting one. They used the game entirely for recreation with small bets on the side to up the competition. They were just as interested in tennis, polo, ice skating, hunting and fishing. As a kid I, too, engaged in these sports and got to be pretty sharp in a few.
Competition was the factor which drew me. I had a sort of tireless energy, a compulsion to be doing something, to be on the move. Not a

Traffic Crashes Claim 7 Victims

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Seven persons died in traffic accidents in B.C. during the weekend as the province, in the midst of an intensive safety campaign, set a grim new all-time record for violent death on the road.

Six youths and one elderly man were among the victims. An eighth man was drowned early Saturday when he fell from the coastal steamer Princess Joan between Vancouver and Victoria. A ninth man died at Prince Rupert Saturday, of injuries received in an accident at the Imperial Oil plant.

Killed in traffic were: M. J. Broughton, 86, of Vancouver; LAC Murray Allen Toole, 19, of Kingston, N.S. (see page 7); Bruce McNeil, 16, Port Moody; Bruce Taylor, 20, Port Moody; Robert Kissack, 19, Ashcroft; George Jieff, 14, of Castlegar; and a four-year-old Richmond boy whose name is being withheld pending notification of next-of-kin.

The victim who fell from the Princess Joan and drowned in the icy strait waters has not yet been identified. But the seven who died on streets and highways boosted B.C.'s traffic toll for the year so far to 228.

The figure exceeds by three the toll for last year, when a record was set with 225 traffic fatalities for the full 12 months. The grim new mark was topped up as police and safety officials throughout the province were intensifying a drive to head it off and keep death from the roads of B.C. for the remainder of the year.

DIED INSTANTLY

McNeil and Taylor were killed instantly Saturday night when their car was in collision with another automobile in Port Moody.

The Jieff youth died after being hit by a car while walking home from a wedding in Castlegar. Kissack was fatally injured at Ashcroft when his truck rolled over a 40-foot embankment.

Broughton, Vancouver's 32nd traffic victim of the year, was fatally injured Saturday afternoon when he was struck by a car as he stepped from a curb. Police said the aged and sightless man died in Vancouver General Hospital six hours after the accident without regaining consciousness.

The unidentified four-year-old from Richmond died in hospital Saturday night after being hit by a car while walking on Mitchell Island. At Prince Rupert Robert J. Bone, 39, driver of a front-end loading machine was killed when the vehicle flipped over on top of him. He is survived by his wife and two foster children.

Canada-U.S. Fish Talks Under Way

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada and the United States today opened negotiations for an international convention to regulate and control the west coast's $15,000,000-a-year pink salmon fishery.

Fisheries Minister Sinclair and W. C. Herrington of the U.S. state department both said at the opening meeting that in view of past co-operation between the two countries in fisheries matters the negotiations should be successful.

Mr. Sinclair said in Canada's opinion it is necessary to regulate off-shore fishing on such international fisheries as the pink salmon which use Canadian and U.S. territorial waters in moving through the Strait of Juan de Fuca and up British Columbia's Fraser River to spawn.

If there were no controls, unlimited fishing might wipe out the entire resource. In the past, U.S. fishermen have caught more than 70 per cent of the pink salmon in off-shore fishing, but in recent years Canadians have increased their activity, reducing U.S. catches to less than 60 per cent.

Youth Dies, Three Suffocate In Crowded Motel

CALGARY (CP)—One Calgary youth was found dead, believed a victim of asphyxiation, and three others seriously ill early Sunday in an overcrowded motel cabin.

The three were saved from almost certain death because the motel manager checked the cabin early to see if they had broken anything.

Dead is Elmer Hein, 22. In hospital are Henry Guenther, 19, Peter Wall, 22, and Isaac Guenther.

First Rocket Launching Successful

FORT CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—In a thunderous swoosh, like three or four jet planes flying at once, and two explosive bursts of flame, the first scientific rocket launched in Canada lifted itself more than 70 miles into the sub-Arctic sky Saturday.

The American-built 14-foot Cajun, first of eight rockets to be fired from a site 12 miles east of here, roared from an almost-vertical launching rail into the upper atmosphere and pressure. United States scientists working here said the firing was a success.

Two City Surgeons Earn Fellowships

Two medical specialists here will be presented as newly-admitted Fellows of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada in Toronto next Saturday.

The two local medical men, Drs. J. H. Dickinson and J. A. Hopkins, are Fellows in the college's division of surgery.

Fellowship in the college is the highest mark of competency in a special branch of medicine or surgery. It is awarded only after a searching series of examinations following at least five years of post-graduate training.

Saanich Girls To Be Charged As Incurables

Two young girls, apprehended in California while travelling in a stolen car with three older youths, will appear in Saanich juvenile court Wednesday charged with being incorrigibles.

They were flown back here from Bishop, Calif., over the weekend. One is 16, the other 17.

The three youths picked up with them, including a 19-year-old Victorian wanted by both Saanich and city police and a Gordon Head army deserter, were all sentenced last week in Ell. Nev., to a prison term of from one to 15 years for burglary.

Male Tutor For Prince

LONDON (AP)—Miss Helen Lightbody has resigned her job as nurse to the two children of Queen Elizabeth, friends said Sunday night. After eight years of service, she will leave Buckingham Palace at the end of the month. The Duke of Edinburgh is said to believe that his son, Prince Charles, is old enough now to have a male tutor.

came from Glasgow in 1954, was found dead. Patterson, an accountant with the Vancouver School Board, who came to B.C. three years ago from Hawick, Scotland, revealed details of his ordeal here over the weekend after being brought from the mountain to Vancouver General Hospital by a helicopter.

"I drank water and walked around, drank water and walked around," he said.

"I took my shoes and socks off and tried to keep my feet warm with my body," he said. However, whenever he went for a drink of water, which he did to ease hunger pangs, he got his feet wet again.

TIME WENT QUICKLY

He had no matches with which to light a fire. Except for his feet, however, he was able to keep dry.

"Amazingly the time went quickly," he recalled. "I'd sleep a few hours then get up and walk to keep warm."

He said he occasionally saw automobiles on the mountain road far below. Then he yelled for help every five minutes during his waking hours.

The six-foot Scotsman, who weighs only 120 pounds, said he felt his strength was waning Saturday and Sunday would be the end.

And then he saw the searchers, men from Vancouver alpine and mountaineering clubs.

They fed him chocolate, light soup and sweet tea and coffee and wrapped him in warm blankets. A helicopter dropped a stretcher and the alpine party cut a path to a ledge from which the helicopter lifted him at nightfall Saturday.

During his vigil Patterson said he had dreamed of glasses of milk and when he was brought to hospital, his first request was for a glass of milk.

SCOUT TRAINING

He said his decision to stay up the mountain until rescued, the result of Boy Scout training in Scotland, saved his life.

During his long vigil he had also "prayed a little."

Maureen, his 24-year-old brunette wife, described the week as "the longest of my life."

"I had just about given up hope," she said. "I really didn't think they would find him alive. It was a miracle and God's will I'm sure."

Mrs. Patterson, after visiting her gaunt and pale husband, said:

"All I can say is thank you to the mountaineers."

"I heard of my husband's rescue from my minister—Rev. D. D. Davidson—about noon."

The six-day search cost an estimated $13,000.

Searchmaster Bill Angus said today the estimate does not include volunteer labor and is "conservative."

"The cost in hard cash I have estimated at $6,800," said Mr. Angus.

McVie in Top Seven Of Photography Salon

CONCERT REPEATED TONIGHT AT ROYAL

Nelsova's Technical Virtuosity Breath-Taking, Her Tone Vibrant

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON
Times Music Critic

Two events of major importance mark this season's second pair of concerts by the Victoria Symphony Orchestra: a first performance of a composition by a leading Canadian composer, the composer himself being present, and the appearance, as guest artist, of one of the world's most truly distinguished musicians, cellist Zara Nelsova.

The performance Sunday afternoon of Vancouver composer Robert Turner's Canzona for orchestra, created an arresting and vital opening to the concert. The work represents a union of an ancient, 16th century, form with the harmonic idiom of today.

VIGOROUS

There is a pleasing arrangement or orchestral voices in the quiet opening passages, and a vigorous and colorful development in the central sections. Thematic material is interesting and plentiful and the contrapuntal treatment scholarly.

Hans Gruber handled the score imaginatively and with a bold incisiveness and if his musicians were not consistently successful, in general they dealt justly with this premiere performance.

However, if for one reason alone, this concert is not to be missed by any genuine music lover. And that reason is Nel-sova. It is not too much to say that no musical experience is complete without having heard this supreme cellist whose name, along with Casals and Piatigorsky, has already become a musical tradition.

SHEER ECSTASY

Her performance in the infinitely lovely and stirring Dvorak B Minor Concerto is one of those high moments of sheer ecstasy in listening which may occur once or twice—or not at all—in a season's concert going.

The quality of her tone is uniformly vibrant and rich, her technical virtuosity, breath-taking. In absolute mastery of her instrument she has been declared the equal of any of her male counterparts.

But one must also add that Nelsova combines two kinds of artistry in a rarely perfect blend. She is the intellectual mistress of her music, entering into it with her mind, so that there is a pure inescapable logic about all she does.

And this is balanced by a kind of intuitive poetry that allows certain lovely phrases to sing themselves simply without undue manipulation, while skillfully evoking from others some unsuspected delight.

As an encore she played, unaccompanied, Prokofiev's quaint "March for Children."

Haydn's 93rd Symphony in D major was the orchestra's principal offering. Gruber's impeccable taste in the interpretation of such music was happily demonstrated in this crisp performance in which the orchestra was so thoroughly at home.

The concert will be repeated tonight at the Royal Theatre at 8.30.
